Two Alarm Fire Results in Loss Amounting to $5,000

In the top left hand corner (inset) is Gordon Samuels, a man who escaped from the burning Beauty Cafe Rooms, 96 street and 102 avenue, about 12.40 a.m. Friday Almost overcome by smoke, he made his way to a doorway at the end of the hall and staggered out onto the roof. Unable to get down of the roof he was assisted by Constable Fred Airth. The top picture also shows Samuels' room after he had ransacked his drawers, gathering together most of his valuables before making his exit scantily clad. Pictured in the centre is Fireman George Olynyk, 10615 Jasper avenue, who suffered a broken leg when struck with the coupling on the end of the hose as he was about to hitch it to a fire hydrant. The hose is reported to have caught on the fire truck, causing the end to fly around and strike Olynyk. When the above picture was taken he was in the X-ray room at the Royal Alexandra hospital. The bottom picture was taken in the cafe kitchen where the fire is believed to have broken out. In the picture is Fireman James Ferguson inspecting the damage.

Fireman Hurt in Morning Blaze

Three roomers, almost overcome by smoke, escaped from the burning Beauty Cafe Rooms, 96 street and 102 avenue about 12:40 a.m. Friday while one fireman suffered a broken leg when he is believed to have become tangled in the heavy hose while attaching it to a hydrant.

The injured fireman, George Olynyk, 10615 Jasper avenue was rushed to the Royal Alexandra hospital. One of the roomers in the building, Gordon Samuels, made his way onto a roof at the rear of the building and had to be helped to safety on the shoulders of Constable Fred Airth.

The other two in the building at the time were Metro Hunchak a visitor from Wostok, and Michael Moisey, son of the proprietor Mrs. Jessie Moisey. Mrs. Moisey was not home when the fire broke out.

Approximately $5,000 damage was caused to the building and stock in the restaurant on the lower floor of the two storey building. The owner of the building, Mike Reesich, said the building would be valued at about $10,000 and $6,000 insurance was carried on the premises.

The blaze is believed to have

Alaska-Bound Clipper Smashed on Mountain

KETCHIKAN, Alaska, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Wreckage of the Pan American World Airways Clipper that crashed Sunday with 18 persons aboard was sighted today on an Annette Island mountainside.

WESLEY MONSEN, son of pilot Alf M. Monsen of the crashed airliner, said he flew over the wreckage and "apparently all had been killed instantly."

He said there was no question about the wrecked plane's identification. The plane was partially burned.

The crash was against 3,600-foot high Tamgas mountain, highest point on the island off the rugged and irregular southeastern Alaska coast. It is six miles east of the Annette Island airfield. The crash was on the north side of the mountain.

It was over the Annette field that the elder Monsen, a veteran of northern flying, made his last report by radio Sunday. He said then that extreme turbulence turned him back from a scheduled landing on the field.

Plan to Encourage British Industry

An intensive campaign to encourage British industries to move to Alberta will be undertaken in the near future by the provincial government it was learned Friday.

One major point remains to be ironed out with British government authorities, a government spokesman indicated Tuesday. That was the matter of the fiscal arrangements to be made in regard to the export from Britain of the capital and capital goods needed to move whole industries.

It was indicated by sources close to the British government that little objection would be raised to the movement from Great Britain of various industries, providing that

Canada U.N. Delegate To Be Appointed Soon

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—(CP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King said here today on his arrival from Ottawa that Canada's choice for its representative on the United Nations Security Council "has not yet been made" but indicated that it would likely be announced while he was absent in England for the Royal wedding.

"IT IS AN EXTREMELY important post, an extremely important one," said the prime minister. "But our choice has not yet been made."

Asked if the appointment might be made and announced during his absence, he said it is in the hands now of External Affairs Minister St. Laurent and "it is quite likely that Mr. St. Laurent will make the announcement while I'm in London."

"He will be in communication with me from time to time," he added.

Have No Knowledge Ban on Hecht Play

OTTAWA, Oct. 31.—(CP)—High authorities of Canada's postal and customs department said last night they knew nothing of any ban against entry into Canada of the script of Ben Hecht's play "A Flag Is Born." Commenting on a New York announcement by the American League for a Free Palestine that the play, which constitutes a plea for establishment of a Jewish homeland in Palestine, had been prohibited entry into this country, officials of both departments said they were sure the report was erroneous in suggesting an official Canadian ban.

Against Ex-Prison Camp Heads

RCAF Officer to Testify Jap War Crimes Trial

OTTAWA, Oct. 31.—(CP)—Wing Commander L. J. Birchall, the man called the "saviour of Ceylon" for a wartime radio warning of the approach of a Jap fleet on that strategic island, is going to Japan to be heard in the war crimes trials of Japanese army personnel at whose hands he and hundreds of prisoners suffered during the war.

In making the announcement today air force headquarters said the Ottawa and St. Catharines, Ont., officer is being relieved by Group Captain H. M. Carscallen as director of personnel administration, and will leave for Japan shortly.

He will testify against Japanese officials who were in charge of camps in which he was held by the Japanese during the three and a half years he was a prisoner. Among those against whom he will testify in the U.S. trials for mistreatment of Allied prisoners of war is a Lieutenant Hayashi, commandant of the Yokohama Stadium Camp where the wing commander spent a year, and a Sergeant Usjioda, a medical sergeant at the same camp.

Testimony taken by affidavit has already been given against these two by Wing Commander Birchall, the material having been taken from the diary he secretly kept while a Japanese prisoner of war.

With Wing Commander Birchall during his first two and a half years as a prisoner was FO. G. C. Onyette of Huntsville, Ont., who was an observer aboard Birchall's plane. FO. Onyette, now a member of the regular RCAF, is stationed at Edmonton.

Cancel $5,000,000 Of Treasury Debt

Outright cancellation of $5,000,000 worth of treasury indebtedness and an agreement whereby payments on the balance will be amortized over a period of 30 years will be achieved by an agreement recently completed and signed by the federal and the provincial governments, Premier Ernest Manning announced Friday.

That the agreement was to be undertaken was forecast by Premier Manning before the spring session of the assembly and in the speech from the throne. Some details were released at that time.

The Dominion holds $26,000,000 in treasury bills against the province. With the outright cancellation of $5,000,000 worth assumed for relief costs during the depression days and cancellation of a further $5,000,000 under the agreement in connection with the transfer of natural resources to the province, payments of principal and interest to retire balance in 30 years will be $574,000. Before the agreement came into effect annual payments of interest alone were $547,000. This is an annual saving of $231,000.

Self-Confessed Arsonist

Burned and Bombed To Awaken Brethren

By Bruce Levett

SOUTH SLOCAN, B.C., Oct. 31.—(CP)—Revelations by a self-confessed arsonist yesterday featured the hearing of the Royal Commission attempting to find a solution to the Doukhobor problem.

PETER SWITLISHOFF, 36-year-old Krestova, B.C., farmer and member of the Sons of Freedom, told Comissioner Judge H. J. Sullivan:

"I am one of the arsonists. I think now that arson and blowing up are acts of force, and the reason for the split or differences between the Sons of Freedom and the Orthodox Doukhobors."

His admissions brought startled murmurs from the audience of more than 300 persons in the small meeting hall.

"We are not perfect, but we are nearing perfection," said Switlishoff, formerly of Langham, Sask., who spoke in slow, halting Russian.

"We have set fire to our false gods and idols, but terrorism is

Suspended

The J. Arthur Rank organization, which has major control of the British motion picture industry, yesterday suspended film star Margaret Lockwood for refusing to play the leading role in the comedy "Roses for Her Pillow." Production would go on with another star. Miss Lockwood, who was voted Britain's No. 1 actress for the second year recently, said: "I did not think the part would do me any good as a star."

Suggest July 1 Divide Palestine

LAKE SUCCESS, Oct. 31.—(AP)—The United States suggested today that if the proposed partition of Palestine were approved by the United Nations assembly the two new Arab and Jewish countries should become independent nations July 1, 1948.

The United States suggestion was made by American delegate Herschel V. Johnson at a closed session of a special Palestine subcommittee of the General Assembly.

Johnson proposed that the two countries become "absolutely sovereign and responsible for public order in their respective nations" on the suggested date of independence.

During the interim period, between now and next July 1, he suggested that Britain continue to be responsible for preservation of law and order.

Embargo on Rail Grain Shipments

WINNIPEG, Oct. 31.—(CP)—The Canadian Wheat Board today placed an embargo on all rail shipments of oats and barley to eastern Canada, except those contained in bags.

The board said the order was "necessary under present conditions to maximize grain shipments by lake vessel, to facilitate terminal operation and to make the most efficient use of available boxcars and motive power."

Whole oats or barley of all grades and qualities may be shipped by rail only when consigned to Fort William, Port Arthur or Vancouver "or any other destination within the western division."

The embargo applies "until further notice" and only exceptions provided for are any specially permitted by the board and oats and barley in bags.

U.S. Oil Supplies Can't Fill Need

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Involuntary "heatless days" threaten some homes in the east and midwestern United States this winter, and drivers may have to shop around for gasoline to fill the family car. Petroleum economists said today that record demand for fuel oil and gasoline is proving too much for present pipeline capacity in the midwest and for oil tankers supplying the east coast, although both well and refinery productions are at record highs.

Could Re-Negotiate Present U.K. Contract

REGINA, Oct. 31.—(CP)—The possibility of a re-negotiation of the British-Canadian wheat agreement after it expires in 1949 and an increased price for wheat in the final year of the contract, was seen last night by Agriculture Minister Gardiner.

"IF WE HAVE a satisfactory experience with the agreement, and if they have a satisfactory experience, there is a good possibility of a re-negotiation" he told reporters following an address which ended a three-weeks' speaking tour in reformed federal constituencies in Saskatchewan.

There was no doubt, he said, that in the final year of the contract, Canadian farmers would receive more than the $1.55 a bushel stipulated for its first two years.

The price paid so far for Canadian wheat was not a price, but an "advance," and Britain was "prepared to pay further participation in 1948 and 1949."

IN A REVIEW of federal agricultural policies, Mr. Gardiner said Prairie farmers—who this year had experienced the worst crop year

Farmer, Oil Worker Reported Injured

Smith's ambulance was busy Friday morning bringing in two persons injured at Leduc, one a farmer, the other an oil field worker. Both of the injured were taken to the University hospital.

Twenty-three-year-old Paul Oldenberg, a married farmer who lives three miles south west of Leduc was believed to be suffering from a fractured skull. He was reported to have been standing on the bumper of an auto rounding up cattle. The car struck a bump and threw him to the ground.

The other man, Gercilion Cameau, is reported to have injured his back while working around the oil fields. He is an employe of the Northern Development company.

Vancouver-to-Alaska Railroad Is Planned

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—(CP)—Plans for construction of a railroad from Vancouver to Fairbanks, Alaska, are under consideration by a group of private investors.

MARSHALL RAMSEY Diggs, Washington counsel for the group, said today his clients had been studying the project for several years and he hoped to be able to announce definite plans, along with the names of the backers, within 30 days.

Diggs said the idea calls for taking over 345 miles of railroad now owned by British Columbia and building another 1,000 miles into Fairbanks, where the proposed road would connect with the Alaska railroad.

Diggs predicted that either his group or some other "will start this railroad within three or four years.

"The present plans contemplate that the railroad will be constructed by private capital. We hope that after we reach Alaska our ROSETOWN, Sask., Oct. 31.—(CP)—Agriculture Minister Gardiner said here Wednesday night there was no truth in the statement reportedly made at Prince Rupert this week by M. J. Coldwell, National CCF leader, that he had been invited to join the Liberal party with the prospect of being made its leader.

Mr. Coldwell had made the same claim in 1933 and had later admitted there was no truth in it, Mr. Gardiner said at a Liberal rally.

Report Allied Squabble Over Japan Reparations

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—(AP)—An eight-months dispute among the wartime Pacific Allies over reparations from Japan was disclosed today after the Philippines had put in a $4,198,675,244 bill for damage suffered from the invaders.

Lifting some of the secrecy surrounding sessions of the 11-country Far Eastern Commission, it was revealed that:

1. With the sole exception of Canada, every one of Japan's foes has claimed a larger share of the reparations pool, whose size is yet to be determined, than the others consider justified.

2. Only the Philippines put a dollar value on her loss. On a proportionate basis, the other claims, which were only in percentages of the future total amount, would add up to some $54,000,000,000.

3. China thinks she is entitled to 40 per cent of whatever is obtained from Japan under terms of the peace treaty which is yet to be drafted. The United States put in a 29-per-cent bid; Austrlia 28 per cent. Britain 25 per cent; the Philippines 15 per cent; India 12.5; France, The Netherlands and Russia each 12 per cent; New Zealand, 2 per cent; and Canada, 1.5 per cent. Earlier claims were even higher.

4. All added up to 188 per cent of the ultimate pool. The Far Eastern Commission has been striving since last February, thus far in vain, for agreement on the manner in which the shares shall be scaled down to the necessary 100 percent.

5. Although the ultimate size of the reparations pool is conjectural, a rule-of-thumb total of some $14,000,000,000 has been used as a working basis in the efforts to agree on shares.

The information came from an authoritative official source after the Philippines figures were published in Manila.

Expect Convention Replace Premier

QUEBEC, Oct. 31.—(CP)—Hon. C. G. Power, former air minister and Liberal member of Parliament for Quebec South, said last night he believed a national Liberal convention would be called within a few months to replace Prime Minister Mackenzie King who would retire. Mr. Power, who did not elaborate on the subject was addressing a Young Liberals rally.

Machine Shop Fire Causes Damage

Fire in an old building at the rear of the Drew Machine shop, 10334 108 street, caused slight damage to tools, and wall and floor of the building and some of the workmen's clothes. The blaze broke out about 9.45 a.m. Friday. The building, about 12 feet square, has been used as a store room for keeping welding tools and other equipment. It was also used as a dressing room by the men.

Halls 2 and 5 answered the call under direction of Thomas Hardy.

"BUT YOU KNOW," he said, "I hope to get new energy from this trip."

The prime minister will spend today and tonight in New York and sail on the Queen Elizabeth for Southampton late tomorrow morning.

He will attend the Royal Wedding Nov. 20, make a brief trip to the Continent and probably have informal talks with British and Commonwealth leaders in London before returning to Ottawa in time for the new session of Parliament called last night for Dec. 5.

This afternoon the Canadian Club of New York will present the prime minister with its award medal, presented annually in recognition of outstanding contributions to "the harmony of relationship and mutual welfare of Canada, the United States and the British Commonwealth."

PREVIOUS RECIPIENTS of the award medal were Cordell Hull, former United States secretary of state who was given the award in 1946, and Sir Gerald Campbell, former British minister in Washington, who received his in 1940.

Mackenzie King also will receive an illuminated scroll praising his statesmanship and record tenure of office.

Sight Plane

TWO SEARCH PARTIES were en route to the scene.

Annette Island is in an area of rugged terrain, with hills rising sharply from the shorelines of a myriad number of islands and inlets along the heavily timbered coast.

The plane had been the object of one of the widest co-ordinated searches ever conducted for a missing aircraft in the northern territory. Weather has been generally unfavorable.

Planes of every branch of the United States military services, from the RCAF, airlines and private fliers were thrown into the intensive hunt. More than a score of surface craft have covered virtually every inlet along the irregular coast.

The Clipper, the Talisman, carried 13 passengers and a crew of five. Most of the passengers were residents of Alaska or Seattle.

Greatest Hoax Ever Perpetrated

WINNIPEG, Oct. 31.—(CP)—Great Britain's Socialist Government is the "greatest hoax ever perpetrated on a civilized nation," C. Bruce Hill of St. Catharines, Ont., president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, last night told the annual meeting of the Manitoba Associated Boards of Trade.

"Great Britain would discourage the most optimist. Facing the greatest economic crisis in her history, she is governed by a party who came into power on a platform of less work and more wealth for all . . . the greatest fallacy of all time.

"That such an idealogy could gain a foothold in this country can only be due to our negligence as the exponents of the democratic way of life, in not providing the truth."

Mr. Hill contended Communism in this country also was not to be treated lightly and ignored as something "hatched up in the minds of the over-cautious."

"We must contiue to force the one weapon which will sound the death knell of both Communism and Socialism . . . informed public opinion.

"The Chamber of Commerce has been providing and intends to continue to provide, sufficient information to completely expose the fallacious doctrines of our opponents."

Seek Industries

all those dependent on the industry were moved at the same time.

This would mean that if a factory were to be moved from England and set up in Alberta, workers and their entire families would be transported to the new location of the plant.

The attitude of the British government appeared to be that if only factories and those actively employed therein were moved, it would leave a number of dependents, still in the Old Country, who would have to be fed from the limited resources available.

The entire project is linked to the announced intention of the Alberta government to sponsor an aerial immigration scheme from Great Britain.

This would mean the establishment of an agent-general's office in London could not long be delayed.

The government has indicated in the past that the office will be opened there and that a representative of the government would likely be sent to England to screen applicants for emigration to Alberta. It may also be necessary for a representative of the provincial government to visit England in connection with the Food for Britain campaign soon to get under way under government sponsorship here.

prices and wages under a CCF Government, M. J. Coldwell, National Leader of the party said here yesterday in answer to a question on whether the current trend would be a problem to his party.

"Everything would be planned ... these present conflicts would not therefore arise," he said. He added that the entire wartime control over prices, foreign exchange and imports should never have been removed and that only planned production could whip the dollar crisis.

Mr. Coldwell denied that he had been offered the Liberal leadership, but reiterated statements that prior to the 1945 general election, he had been approached by some members of the Liberal party with a proposal that he join forces with the Liberals, should they fail to obtain a clear majority at the polls.

"Persons talking to me about it, suggested this would lead to the Liberal leadership," Mr. Coldwtll said.

"I said I was not interested. There would be no coalition as long as I was leader of my party."

To Ask Princess Visit Dominion

MONTREAL, Oct. 31.—(CP) — Prime Minister Mackenzie King plans to invite Princess Elizabeth and Lieut. Philip Mountbatten to visit Canada when he is in England next month for their wedding.

The Prime Minister made this known last night during a brief interview with newspaper men when he passed through here on his way to New York where he will sail aboard the liner Queen Elizabeth tomorrow.

"In the name of Canada and her people, I will deliver to Princess Elizabeth and Lieut. Philip Mountbatten a most cordial and warm invitation to visit our country, after I have offered them in the name of the people our best wishes for their happiness," Mr. King said.

Mr. King did not elaborate on his statement that he would invite the Princess and her future husband to the Dominion. If they accept, it will mark the first visit to Canada by the Princess whose parents, King George and Queen Elizabeth, were here in 1939.

The Communist newspaper said that Mikolajczyk arrived in Britain aboard a British military plane.

Disaster Narrowly Averted

3-Year-Old D-Day Report Is Released

By Richard Tompkins

LONDON, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Two Allied destroyers and a Walrus aircraft turned back a large Normandy-bound invasion force when D-Day was postponed for 24 hours in 1944, and prevented a disastrously premature warning of the landing reaching the Germans, a report by the Allied commander-in-chief of the expeditionary navy forces said yesterday.

THE REPORT WAS originally submitted to Gen. Eisenhower Oct. 16, 1944, by Admiral Sir Bertram H. Ramsay, commanding Allied invasion naval forces, but it was released only yesterday as a supplement to the London Gazette.

At a meeting June, 3, 1944, Admiral Ramsay said, Gen. Eisenhower decided to give the go-ahead to the invasion but early next morning it was decided that conditions the following day (June 5 — the original D-Day) would not be acceptable and a 24-hour postponment was ordered.

"By this time all of force "U" from Devonshire and a portion of force "O" from Portland (both American) were at sea, and ships and craft had to reverse their course and return to harbor," the report said.

But force U-2, a slow assault convoy composed of 125 LCT (landing craft, tanks) with their escort, failed to receive the signal ordering the postponment. The force was 25 miles at sea, steering south to Normandy.

"TWO DESTROYERS and a Walrus aircraft had to be sent at full speed to turn it round," Admiral Ramsay said. "Had this not been done, it is possible that the force would shortly have been detected by the enemy's Radar and this would undoubtedly have resulted in his increased vigilance for the next few days."

The performance of the leading groups of force "U" was "particularly praiseworthy," Admiral Ramsay said. "Since some of these failed to enter harbor on the postponement, and by H-hour, their commanding officers had been on their bridges continuously for about 70 hours.

Alaska Railway

government will aid in the construction but we have received no commitments from it though government officials have shown great interest.

"WE ARE ANXIOUS that a railroad be built to the territory for we believe that is the only way it ever will be opened up.

"And, in view of the present Russian situation, we should have such a connection with our territory.

"The railroad will open up vast resources, and in Canada tap country exceedingly rich in natural resources such as coal, timber and pulp wood."

Canadians have shown great interest in the proposal, Diggs said, adding that his group consists of both Americans and Canadians.

HE SAID two New York banking houses have shown an interest in financing the proposed road, estimated to cost $200,000,000 or more, but declined to name them.

The plans are to construct the railroad west of the mountains, which Diggs described as the only feasible route for such a project.

Wheat Contract

in their history, with the exception of 1937 and possibly 1931—would receive between $16,000,000 and $20,000,000 under the Prairie Farm Assistance Act. This, added to participation payments for wheat to be paid this year, meant a total of $190,000,000 this year to western farmers—as much money as they received in a good crop year.

"Any policy which puts $190,000,000 into the pockets of western farmers during a poor crop year is a good policy," he said.

THE BRITISH wheat agreement had enabled farmers to know for five years in advance the minimum prices they would receive for their wheat. This meant stability, not only for the farmer, but for the business man.

A shortage of feed grain, rather than an increase in prices resulting from the recent decontrol of oats and barley, was responsible for a slump in livestock sales, he said.

Cafe Fire

originated in the kitchen at the rear of the cafe. The kitchen was the only part of the building to suffer heavy damage from the flames. Firemen had to pour gallons of water in the upstairs rooms to keep the fire from spreading along the floors. The stock and furniture in the premises suffered heavily as a result of the water.

Dense smoke in the building hampered firemen and forced them to don gas masks before entering.

Police prowler car men were first to notice the fire and turned in the alarm. Moisey said he was laying awake in his room when he smelled smoke, on opening his door he found the hallway filled with smoke. He said he went to the room of his cousin, Hunchuk and banged on the door to arouse him. The pair then made their way down the front steps onto the street.

Samuels said the smoke woke him up. He immediately smashed open a window in his room, was almost overcome by smoke but staggered out into the hallway to the rear of the building through a large window and onto the roof of the kitchen. He carried much of his clothing with him and also saved his wallet containing $80.

Firemen from halls one, two, five and eight answered the two alarm call. District Chief Thomas Harvey was in charge.

Switlishoff admitted taking part in the burning of schools and bombing of the tomb of Peter (The Lordly) Verigin at Brilliant since moving to Krestova in 1940.

"I used to think that all this was needed to awaken our brothers from materialism, which leads to militarism.

"We have burned the English schools because we have there found nationalism, militarism and egotism.

"Russian schools we have burned because they have been teaching nationalism.

"We have blown up the tomb of Peter Verigin because superstition has returned to us which was fought against in Russia by our forefathers.

"It shows that idol worship has returned to us. People coming to the tomb, kneel and worship, but do not recognize the Living God.

"For that reason we have tried to blow up the tomb several times in order to awaken our brethren."

He stated that the Sons were responsible for the $300,000 fire which destroyed a jam factory at Brilliant, "because we felt that we needed reorganization."

"I have come to the conclusion," Switlishoff added, "through the help of good people I have met, to dispense with acts of force."

"I have come to clear my conscience so that no one innocent shall be blamed for my deeds."

Alberta Municipalities

Proposal to Lower Age Qualification

LETHBRIDGE, Alta., Oct. 31. —(CP)— Spirited discussion over a proposal to lower the age qualification of voters in civic elections developed at the opening session of the 43rd annual convention of the Union of Alberta Municipalities here yesterday after P. N. R. Morrison, of Calgary, urged that the convention unanimously support the proposal.

HE ORIGINALLY URGED that the voting age for municipal elections be lowered from the present 21 years to 18 years. However, after one of the 80 delegates at the convention warned against confusion which might develop he amended his resolution to set the age limit at 19 years—the same as for provincial elections.

The resolution, submitted to the convention by the City of Calgary, was tabled for further discussion.

Delegates to the convention, from throughout Alberta, and their wives were luncheon guests of the Lethbridge Lions Club and heard and address from Senator W. A. Buchanan.

Delegates were welcomed to the convention at its opening by Municipal Affairs Minister C. E. Gerhart speaking on behalf of his preimer, Ernest Manning who was unable to be present.

MAYOR J. A. JARDINE of Lethbridge extended a civic welcome to the delegates, outlined the managerial form of government maintained by this municipality, the utilities it operated and the general development program adopted by the city. He extended to delegates all the facilities of Lethbridge.

T. E. GARSIDE, of Edmonton, delivered the report of the legislative committee and explained that before the federal-provincial agreement discussions involving Alberta, the union's legislative committee had presented the Alberta government with the municipal viewpoint regarding the high cost of education and social services borne by municipalities at present. He also dealt briefly with the submission prepared for the union for presentation to the provincial - municipal relations royal commission. The 17-page submission is to come before the convention for approval before being presented to the Royal Commission.

The eight per cent special war tax on all consumer electricity and gas bills would have been removed at the last session of the Dominion parliament but for an oversight, J. J. Part, secretary-treasurer of the town of Vermilion told his authority was an unnamed federal cabinet minister.

Vermilion took up the matter with the Dominion cabinet, he said, and one of the ministers said he was surprised the step was not taken at the last session.

The meeting urged removal of the tax. The original resolution from the city of Red Deer, endorsed by the resolution committee headed by T. E. Garside, Edmonton's city solicitor and passed by the meeting, pointed out that since the price of both electricity and gas varies greatly, those parts which pay high rates pay a higher tax on the present percentage basis.

A RESOLUTION asking that the tax on electricity be changed to a kilowatt basis to remove the discrimination was defeated on the ground that the association should hold out for complete removal of the tax.

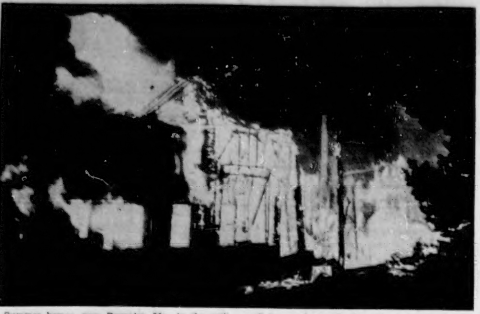
Forest Fire Sweeps Maine



Summer homes, near Porpoise, Me., in the path of Maine's worst forest fire in history, go up in flames as fire raced along the coast. The long dry spell has made woods throughout the country easy prey for fires.

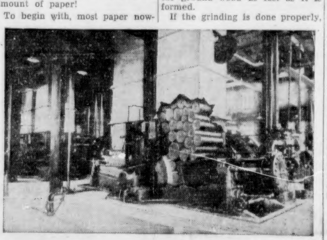
The Book of Knowledge

(Department: Familiar Things)

This and the following articles are taken from the Book of Knowledge and can be clipped for saving in a reference book.

THE STORY OF PULP AND PAPER

Do you ever wonder where all the paper comes from that you see so much of every day? The paper in books, the paper around parcels, the paper in the magazines, and in the piles of newspapers that are gathered up and stowed away - - a tremendous amount of paper!



Laurentide Pulp and Paper Mills

A pulp-grinder, cut away to show the logs inside and the grinding stone.

To begin with, most paper nowadays is made from wood. Have you ever had a sliver in your finger? Perhaps you have picked a match stick to pieces, or in a moment of thoughtfulness chewed one. In any of these cases you will have noticed how finely the wood breaks up into small pieces almost like the hairs of a brush. Well, each of these tiny pieces of wood is really a bundle of very fine fibres, much finer than the finest thread, and they are bound or stuck together with the gum or resin which goes to make up the wood.

If you will take an old newspaper and tear a piece of it without folding it, and then look closely at the torn edge, you will see plenty of these tiny fibres sticking out, so it will not be hard to realize that the paper is just a mat of these fibres pressed out thin and smoothed down.

Canadian National Railways

In the foreground is the jackladder carrying the logs from the water up into the slasher in the shed. The big drums in the foreground are the barkers. The clean logs tumble out from the end into a trough.

While all trees and woody material, such as the stems of rushes and grasses, contain fibres, some kinds of wood yield more and better fibre, and yield it more easily than any others, and so these are used as "pulpwood." The best tree for this purpose is the spruce. White spruce is good, but black spruce is perhaps a little better, and there is a great deal of black spruce in Canada. It grows away back in the forests on the rocky hills and around the muskegs, and some swampy places are so full of it they are called black-spruce swamps.

The logs, after being cut, are floated down the rivers to the mills. On arriving at the mill the logs are lifted out of the water by the jack-ladder, or elevator, which slopes down under the water, picks up the logs, and carries them up sideways into the slasher, where a number of circular saws traveling at very high speed cut the logs up in a twinkling into pieces two feet long, called blocks.

Conveyors take the blocks first to the barkers, where they are tumbled about inside big revolving drums of steel that have knives inside; when the wood has come through these the bark is all off, and as they emerge they are met by a stream of water which washes them clean.

Next, conveyors take some of them to the grinding-room. Here the wood is ground by huge stones like grindstones, only much bigger, and turning ever so fast. The logs are pressed against the stones by machinery and a stream of water is played over them steadily to keep them cool and wash away the ground wood as fast as it is formed.

If the grinding is done properly, the fibres are separated from each other and form a soft, pulpy material called "ground wood" or "mechanical pulp." The part of the mill where this process goes on is known as the ground-wood department. Unfortunately, however, this grinding cuts up the fibres, and they will not, by themselves, make a good sheet of paper. They must be mixed with a pulp consisting of longer and stronger fibres which will help to hold the little ones together and so make a strong sheet. These long, strong fibres are made by a different process, and because chemicals and chemical processes are used in the manufacture of this kind, it is called "chemical pulp."

So we have the two kinds of pulp, ground-wood or mechanical and chemical. The story of chemical pulp will be told next week.

Canada and United States Customs Union Proposed

By FORBES RHUDE

MONTREAL, Oct. 31.—(CP)—A customs union between Canada and the United States was advocated yesterday by two speakers to the annual meeting of the Canadian Exporters' Association, D. P. Hatch of Montreal, association president, and John Abbink of New York, past chairman of the United States National Foreign Trade Council, Inc.

The union they envisaged would reduce tariffs and other trade barriers to a minimum and encourage freer trade with the rest of the world. It would be open to other countries which wished to join.

Mr. Abbink, questioned on his proposal following the meeting, said it might take 10 to 25 years to accomplish but he felt the public on both sides of the border should be informed on the matter starting now.

Some tariffs were required, at least for the present, but many items in the United States tariff didn't make sense.

He cautioned Canadian wheat farmers to avoid depletion of farm lands which had occurred in the United States Proper precautions now would avoid great expense later. He thought it possible under most efficient use of North American resources that the United States would reduce its wheat crop and buy from Canada. This would be an instance of long-range planning under which the Canadian farmer would have to be assured of a buyer and the American consumer of a supply.

A customs union probably would nullify Canada's part in British Empire preferences, but he added that the Union would be open to all who wished to come in.

Mr. Hatch, in advancing the proposal, commented:

"Any scheme for a progressive customs union with the United States is without meaning unless we make it a cardinal point in our negotiations that our joint protective barriers against the rest of the world will be reduced brick by brick, over a limited number of years to something like a nominal or ordinary revenue level."

Quits Communism

MUNICH, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Meinrich Schmitt, first Bavarian minister of denazification, said yesterday he was broken with the Communist party after 27 years of membership.

"I cancelled my membership because I am opposed to the idea of implanting Russian conditions in Germany," he told an interviewer.

Reverse Procedure

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 31.—(CP)—They're instituting a novel twist in the old report card system at University of Michigan—the professors will get the report cards. Students in the literary college will make out the report cards on teachers at the end of each semester as part of a plan for faculty evaluation.

Makes Accusation

MOSCOW, Oct. 31.—(Reuters)—Trud, Russian trade union organ, yesterday published a letter to the Toronto Daily Star accusing Ludger Dionne, Canadian member of parliament, of employing 100 girls from European displaced persons camps under "slave conditions" in his rayon spinning mills in Quebec.

Seek Effects on Man

Tree Is Guinea Pig For Sunspot Tests

By Howard Blakeslee

Associated Press Science Editor

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—(AP)—A tree on the grounds of the cosmic terrestrial research laboratory in Needham, Mass., is playing guinea pig for sunspots.

THIS TREE is a conductor of electricity. So are all other trees and all living tissues, including men.

The Needham tree is different in having one of the shrewdest astronomers, Dr. Harlan T. Stetson, for an observer. With his specialized knowledge of detecting minute electrical changes, this tree is showing a constantly - varying change in its electrical conductivity.

This tree electricity varies with the time of day, with the season of the year, and with weather.

The idea, as he explains in a new book "Sunspots in Action," is to use trees and many other tests to learn what sunspots do to men in addition to affecting communications.

SUNSPOTS EMIT floods of ultra-violet in quantities that would be deadly except for the upper air's protection. They generate electricity. They are great magnets.

Tree rings for thousands of years indicate that usually there is more rain during periods of many sunspots. These periods appear every 10 to 12 years, and Dr. Stetson writes that 1947 has been one of the greatest of these maximum spot periods.

These ups and downs in sunspots have been correlated with excess of rabbits, cycles in wheat, winemaking, freezing and thawing of rivers and the water levels in lakes.

They have been connected, but not clearly, with the hormone production of man's endocrine glands, which govern his energy and some of his personality. They have been suggested, more vaguely, as connected with epidemics of disease.

FAR MORE than now known must be learned about sunspot effects before the predictions of their recurring cycles can be useful for anything except radio and to a much lesser extent the long-time fluctuations in weather.

Professional Mayors

One of the worst things that can happen to a city of Edmonton's size and Edmonton's position is to fall under the domination of a professional mayor, that is to say, under the perpetual influence of a man, however excellent in the beginning, who sought to make the chief magistracy of a city his life career.

That is why Edmonton citizens will do well to reject, on November 5, the proposal for a two-year mayoralty term. Anything that tends to prolong the mayoralty term must tend to professionalize the chief magistracy.

Alberta cities have had some experience that emphasizes this fact. When, term after term the same man is returned to office, the result is that the public lose interest in civic affairs and the mayor's leadership tends to become ineffective and mechanical.

A city is not an industry engaged in the production of things. It is a living organism existing for the welfare and happiness of people. Thus, two or three years in the mayor's chair should be the ambition of capable and energetic young men who have an inspirational force to offer to the community. The mayoralty needs such energy and enthusiasm.

This energy and enthusiasm and fresh viewpoints are of far more value to the office than administrative experience. For administrative experience in abundance is provided by the appointed city commissioners, who have acquired a technique for carrying out the policies of the majority of the electors in an efficient and economical way.

What is required more than anything else in the mayor's office is vigor and progressive ideas. These are more likely to be secured if the mayor must be elected—or re-elected—every year.

Anything that tends to get away from this principle and to discourage zealous young men from contesting the office, such as an extension of the term, is dangerously likely to promote dead and stereotyped civic policy that halts progress and retards civic growth.

A "Poor" Year, But—

On Tuesday the mercury at Halifax climbed to 71 degrees, and broke a 42 year old record; at Montreal the thermometers registered 70 degrees, higher than it had reached on the corresponding date for 73 years; across the prairies temperature varied from 15 to 20 degrees higher than normal for the time of year; on the Pacific coast mild weather prevailed.

In the Maritimes, where excessive rainfall delayed seeding last spring, forests were burning and light and power plants were going out of business as turbines stopped revolving for lack of water. In the western provinces, where heavy rain followed dry weather in the growing season, farmers were harvesting crops which had been ready for cutting six weeks ago. In the coastal area, where people were ordered to stop using the hose on their gardens in July and August, fog and rain made up the order of the day.

Perhaps there have been years when summer brought as variable and untimely weather in sections of Canada, but it may be doubted that there has been a season when right across the Dominion conditions were so persistently perverse as this year.

Still, official reports say Canada will be able to ship Britain the promised 160,000,000 bushels of wheat and enormous supplies of bacon, beef, poultry and dairy products. It takes a "bad" year to show how good a country Canada is. In a good year farm production is so enormous that the figures are beyond actual comprehension; they are only symbols of unrealizeable vastness—like the "millions of light-years" which the astronomers talk about.

In many countries people fare worse in a good year than Canadians do in a poor one.

New Research Policy?

The announcement in Edmonton by the minister of national health and welfare that a research laboratory, now operating in Kamloops, will be moved to this city and operated in conjunction with the Dr. Charles Camsell Hospital is important in itself, particularly since the research facilities in Kamloops are to be devoted to other purposes, and not closed out.

But the significance of the announcement goes beyond the extension of this community's importance in scientific advancement. For it indicates, not merely a compliment to the status of the Edmonton institution, but an entirely new attitude on the part of Ottawa to the whole problem of research.

Before the last great war, the government's position in regard to research was almost entirely academic except in agricultural matters. That is to say, the National Research Council was interested primarily in scientific scholarship and only secondary in the practical aspects of research.

That position appears to have changed radically. And the present research policy of Canada seems to be concerning itself in a vital way, not only with the acquisition of new scientific knowledge, but with the task of putting that knowledge at work for the benefit of the public.

Thus, laboratories are springing up for the purpose of studying and combatting disease. The next step will be the establishment of industrial research facilities so that Canadian industry can compete more favorably with United States industry, whose comparatively greater wealth permits a wider activity in private research.

In a word, Ottawa appears to be determined that the practical research momentum developed in wartime shall be maintained for purposes of peaceful pursuits and for the benefit of the Canadian people.

This is a decision that cannot be too warmly commended.

Are They "Loans"?

It is estimated at Washington that European countries will need assistance to the amount of six billion dollars to carry them through 1948. Of this huge sum officials calculate that one-third, or two billion dollars, might as well be catalogued as outright gifts, and not as loans. This money they say, will have to go for food and other consumer supplies, and will have no effect at all in helping the receiving countries toward a self-supporting status.

The other four billions, it is hoped, will go into constructive projects aimed to increase wealth-production, and may therefore be repaid some time in one way or another. Remembering what happened when foreign money was advanced to reconstruct Germany after the First World War, even this hope seems sanguine. Unless the assisted countries make other use of the loans than Germany did, and take a more candid view of their obligations, the four billions may also turn out to be donations and not loans.

Looking Backward

From The Bulletin Files

1887: 60 Years Ago

On Saturday afternoon, a detachment of police under the command of Supt. Griesbach started from Ft. Saskatchewan to escort two prisoners, recently sentenced to six years in Manitoba penitentiary for manslaughter, to Edmonton, where they were to be turned over to the deputy sheriff . The outfit consisted of several teams and a mounted man. The prisoners were placed in one of the wagons, the other occupants being Sgt. Brooks and the driver, Curry. When the procession arrived at the second Rat Creek, about two miles from town, it was getting dusk. Supt. Griesbach meanwhile had gone ahead and reached town. Just before reaching the woods one of the prisoners dropped his glove out of the wagon and asked the sergeant to get it for him. To do this, the wagon had to be stopped while he went back to look for it. While the sergeant was away, the two prisoners leaped out, one on each side, and started into the woods, at the same time making demonstrations with their blankets that started the horses running away. The driver jumped out after the prisoners and secured the old man, but the young one ran into the woods. Despite the organization of a search party, he is still at large.

1907: 40 Years Ago

Norman W. Watson, Phm.B., of Collingwood, has arrived in the city and accepted a position with the Edmonton Drug Company.

Ernest Seton-Thompson, the writer of animal stories, has arrived at Athabasca Landing on his return from the north. He will address a meeting of the Canadian Club at the King Edward hotel on Monday.

In the current number of the Labor Gazette, Mr. J. A. Kinney reports on labor conditions in Edmonton.

1917: 30 Years Ago

Vermilion: Liberals of this constituency have nominated E. W. Ebbett for the legislature.

Petrograd: Russia entered the war early and is now worn out by the strain, Premier Kerensky told the Associated Press today.

Ralph Connor told his hearers at First Presbyterian church that should Russia fail, Britain and France will be compelled to redouble their efforts.

At a convention held in Albion hall, Brigadier General Griesbach was nominated candidate of the Union Government in West Edmonton.

Sunny Alberta weather prevails all over the province at the present time.

London: About thirty airplanes in seven groups participated in last night's raid. Three of them penetrated to the heart of London.

1927: 20 Years Ago

Tax collection in Edmonton for the first ten months of the year amounted to $3,204,440.

Winnipeg: Women fainted in the crush to gain admittance to the trial of "strangler" Nelson.

Edmonton's 1927 building record has passed the two and one-half million dollar mark. Thus far 732 permits have been issued.

1937: 10 Years Ago

Russia was alone in refusing to grant either side in the Spanish civil war belligerency rights, until all foreigners on both sides in the dispute had been repatriated.

Howard Stutchbury, Edmonton, was named as a director of Last Post fund at a meeting held in Montreal.

The Calgary Power company announced that its facilities would be available soon to give the city of Edmonton stand-by power service.

The British government announced that it would be inaugurating a series of news broadcasts in foreign languages to European countries.

Gates of Jerusalem were closed as one of Great Britain's methods of combatting a wave of unrest sweeping the Holy Land.

Dairy butter was selling in Edmonton at 16 cents a pound, with No. 1 eggs going to the consumer at 46 cents.

Limited Commitments

By MAURICE WESTERN

LAKE SUCCESS.—At last the cards are being tossed on the table. By revealing their Palestine hand the United States has forced others to do the same.

For the first time, but perhaps irrevocably, the U.S. has accepted a commitment as distinct from a moral responsibility in Palestine. It is, however, guarded, limited as a commitment only to participation in a UN program of restricted scope.

Four points deserve emphasis. Mr. Herschel Johnson insisted as a matter of urgency that the assembly recommend a solution at this session. The Arabs are seeking to refer the legality of the mandate to international court, a procedure which would postpone a settlement. Arabs and Americans are alike aware that any proposal must command a two-thirds majority in a plenary session.

Secondly, the United States has endorsed the majority proposals on partition and immigration. The suggested constitutional guarantees of equal economic opportunities and inclusion of Jaffa in the Arab state are important concessions to the Moslem viewpoint which have drawn no complaints of any kind from Zionist sources. Yet Dr. Silver once argued that partition involved "enormous sacrifices" for the Jews and that beyond the majority recommendations "we will not, we cannot go."

THIRDLY, the Americans have moved to shift major responsibility back on the British shoulders. Mr. Johnson noted that the Assembly had assumed "responsibility for making recommendations to the United Kingdom." It did not undertake "to assume responsibility for the administration of Palestine during the process of transition." Hence the legalistic emphasis that "responsibility for the government of Palestine now rests with the mandatory power."

He failed to note that this legal responsibility had become unbearable for Britain largely because of terroristic activities organized and financed in America for which his own government accepts no legal or moral responsibility whatsoever.

FINALLY, WHILE the United States may recognize that enforcement is the key to the whole problem, nowhere did Mr. Johnson even hint at the possibility of American troops serving in Palestine. He ignored entirely the recommendation of the UN special committee that one or more states assist Britain during the transitional period.

What he did offer was American participation in a UN program of economic and financial assistance. Under present circumstances, this would seem necessarily to involve a shouldering by America of the major burden.

But Mr. Johnson was even less convincing when referring to the problem of "internal law and order." He proposed "establishment of a special constabulary or police force recruited on a volunteer basis." How, asked baffled British delegates, against open Arab hostility and the continued intransigence of irreconcilable Jewish extremists, could such a heterogeneous collection of volunteers be expected to succeed where 100,000 well-trained, well-equipped British veterans had failed in two years of ceaseless effort? How would such a force be recruited?

Major concern now attaches to the unpredictable attitude of the Soviet Union. With the Arabs bidding desperately for Soviet support Mr. El Khouri of Syria on Saturday identified the Zionists with Jewish American capitalists seeking "an economic bridgehead on the rim of Asia."

High Calibre Emigrants

By CHESTER BLOOM

OTTAWA: There are approximately 1,500,000 displaced persons still in the DP camps of Europe, the overwhelming majority of whom are anxious to emigrate to Canada, according to the three-member team of the Canadian Relief Mission for Ukrainian Refugees—G. R. B. Panchuk, Miss Ann Crapleve, and A. J. Yaremovich. About 60 per cent of them are women and children. Virtually all are skilled workers in some trade profession or productive way of life.

The displaced persons camps, said Miss Crapleve, are, in fact, self-supporting. The DP's are adept in tailoring, shoe-making and the like, providing everything for themselves out of raw materials furnishd by the International Refugee Organization. All are anxious to leave Europe for ever. Canada, Britain and the United States are the three countries in order of preference they look forward to as future homes.

THE OVERWHELMING desire to come to Canada, the team agreed, was due partly to the extraordinarily widespread reputation won in Europe by the Canadian army for modest, mannerly and orderly conduct, and partly because of the conviction that Canada is a land of freedom and opportunity for workers. Most of these people are of middle age and physically able. But the tragic fact is that under the conditions of camp life, and a restricted diet of 1,500 calories per day, barely enough to live on, their physical condition is deteriorating. The more quickly they are removed to other lands and given productive work to do, the more quickly will they become adapted to a new life and new citizenship.

Other nations are rapidly becoming aware of this. The South American countries are already beginning to make selections while the British have been at it for months past. The field team members, however, insisted that the British were motivated more by humanitarian than commercial motives. Canada unfortunately seemed to be adopting a cold attitude of utilitarianism. Mr. Panchuk said that one factor is being overlooked that the quality of these prospective immigrants is far above the levels of skill, intelligence and education of the thousands who sought to leave Europe after the previous war.

The Russian Communists and their satellites are working assiduously among them endeavoring to persuade them to return to their native countries. Mr. Yaremovich said that in many cases they are successful because the displaced persons despair of emigration to other countries. Where a refugee has not been connected with any political party prior to leaving his country, he is fairly safe in returning if he keeps his mouth shut. But if he ever belonged to any other party than these affiliated with the Communists, if he returns he merely vanishes. Many cases of such disappearances are on record in Yugoslavia.

MR. PANCHUK said that of the 1,500,000 remaining displaced persons, about 200,000 are Ukrainians. They are classified generally as Poles, Rumanians, Czecho-Slovaks, Russians from the Greater Ukraine and merely as "stateless" These categories were due to the fact that after the first war, the Ukraine was divided among the nations named. After the Yalta agreement, the Ukrainians, anxious to escape Russian domination, reverted to their pre-First World War status to escape the appellation of Russian subjects, required to be repatriated. Religion is not a factor. The Poles generally are Roman Catholics, the Greater Ukrainians or "stateless" of the Orthodox Greek Religion.

But all are united in their determination to emigrate as soon as possible from Europe. As a matter of fact, the three field workers said, the desire to emigrate from Europe is widespread, not only among the displaced persons but prevalent in Belgium, France, Italy, Austria—in fact, virtually all of western Europe.

Smiles

"Ruth," moaned her long-suffering husband, "you promised you wouldn't buy a new dress. What made you do it?"

"Dear," replied the modern Eve, "the devil tempted me."

"Why didn't you say: 'Get thee behind me, Satan'?" the poor man inquired.

"I did," the woman replied sweetly, "and then he whispered over my shoulder: 'My dear, it fits you just beautifully in the back.' "

"The clothes my tailor makes last for years. Look at that blue serge suit of mine. There's an example."

"Yes, a shining example."

A little girl, travelling by night train, was put to bed in an upper berth for the first time. She kept crying till her mother told her not to be afraid because God would watch over her.

"Mother, are you there?" she cried.

"Yes."

"Father, are you there?"

"Yes."

A fellow passenger lost all patience at this point and bellowed: "We're all here. Your father and mother and brothers and sisters and aunts and uncles and cousins. All here—now go to sleep."

There was a pause. Then, very softly "Mother."

"Well?"

"Was that God?"

In preparation for a coming event little Joan had been told that Daddy was ordering a small brother.

Triplets arrived, and when Joan heard that she said to her mother:

"Why didn't you order a baby yourself? You know how Daddy stutters?"

"I see that tips are forbidden here waiter."

"Bless you, sir, so were apples in the Garden of Eden."

Mrs. Wigton was convinced that the lucky figure of her life was seven.

"It's extraordinary," she said, "how seven has dominated my life. I was born on the seventh day of the month, and had seven sisters."

"Married on a seventh?" asked her friend.

"Well, I was married on June twenty-eighth, really, but it's still a seven—seven times four. And only yesterday I had an enormous bit of luck."

"Surely," said her friend, "yesterday was the thirteenth?"

"Oh, yes, isn't it wonderful? Seven again. Seven and six are thirteen, aren't they?"

The skipper of a tramp steamer, writing the log recording an eventful day, rounded off his task with the entry: "Mate intoxicated." To the mate, who indignantly protested on reading it, the skipper retorted: "Well, it's true, isn't it?"

The following day it was the mates' duty to write the log. He completed his account with "Skipper sober."

The captain stared at it for a moment, and then exploded.

"Well, it's true, ain't it?" was the mate's rejoinder.

He was once the black sheep of the family.

When he had won success he presented himself at home again. He told his father how Fortune had smiled on him; he was earning up to $150 a week.

"What — a week?" cried his father.

"A week," was the reply.

"Then come inside," said dad. "The family can stand a lot of disgrace for that."

"My missis is forever talking about racehorses," complains a reader.

Well, that's not the worst form of nagging.

Money Madness

By ELMORE PHILPOTT

The world is headed for a severe economic crisis.

That is the plain meaning of the warnings issued by President Truman, Sir Stafford Cripps and lesser prophets.

The difference between 1929 and 1947 is that we have learned a lot from bitter experience. We could escape disaster.

More and more people are aware of the real villain in the impending crisis. It is the so-called "dollar famine," which results from "money madness."

PHILPOTT

SUPPOSE that all the world had one money system.

Suppose that every nation in the world was using a stabilized world currency. We would still have severe economic troubles. There is, right now, a physical shortage of food, supplies, tools, machinery and buildings. Even under an ideal government — established by the Archangel Gabriel —hundreds of millions of people would have to endure hardship for quite a while.

But the crux of the crisis is money.

Take Canada.

If you consider our world trade as a whole, we are doing fine. We are balancing what we buy with what we sell. But if you consider our trade with our big neighbor, the U.S.A., we are headed straight for monetary disaster. We are buying from Uncle Sam twice as much as we are selling to Uncle Sam. That means we must soon either borrow about one billion U.S. dollars, or drastically cut imports from U.S.

BRITAIN IS IN the same boat as Canada in regard to trade with U.S. But maybe it is misleading to say "in the same boat." For no matter how bad a smash comes, Canada has the food, fuel and other ingredients to keep her own people in physical prosperity. The British people would literally half-starve unless they were able to import. And they cannot continue to import unless they have some way of paying for imports.

MR. ERNEST BEVIN is often like a bull in a china shop. When he said the real trouble with the world was that huge pile of gold buried in Fort Knox, Kentucky, he failed to make clear what he meant.

But actually he put a clumsy finger directly on what is wrong. The real trouble in the world today is that the United States is not buying from the outside world as much as she is selling to the outside world.

The U.S. is selling to other countries more than a billion dollars' worth of goods per month over and above what she is buying from the outside world.

WE CAN NEVER hope to get the world back on even keel until all nations recognize the elementary fact that if you want to go on selling you have to be willing to buy back something or other.

In the centuries when Britain and the other countries of Western Europe were top dogs in the world trade, they kept things going by investing their winnings in foreign countries.

The plain fact is that, so far, the U.S. has shown no willingness either to admit the necessary amount of foreign goods to balance accounts, nor to make adequate investments in foreign properties.

THE LONDON CHAMBER of Commerce now proposes a simple but sound scheme to compel nations to buy as much as they sell.

As each nation sold something abroad it would be credited with the proper amount of "world money." But this "world money" could only be used for making purchases from other countries.

Money experts will recall that this is much the same plan as advocated by the late Lord Keynes. He called the world money "Bancor."

Each nation could get "Bancor" by selling something abroad. If it wished, it could sell gold for Bancor. But the most important point in Keynes' plan was that no nation could sell Bancor for gold. It had to buy goods.

Bulletin Readers Say:

Letters to the editor should be brief and discuss no more than one subject at a time. The name and address of the writer must be included, but not necessarily for publication if the correspondent so requests. Letters thus received become the property of THE EDMONTON BULLETIN whose editors, for obvious reasons, cannot undertake to enter into correspondence about them and reserve the right to delete extraneous or unduly controversial matter.

EXAMPLE

Editor, Bulletin—In writing this we fully realize that adolescents should be off the streets at a reasonable hour, but when a certain member of Edmonton's Police Force uses profane language on a group of teen-agers returning from a house party, and when trying to explain the circumstances are cut off with the words, "Shut up or I'll take you in on a charge of obstructing the law", we wonder what kind of an example the force is setting for the youth of Edmonton.

THINK OF THE POSTMAN

Editor, Bulletin—It is a human failing of dog owners that we never admit that our dog has bitten (or would bite) people that come to the house.

A percentage of such tradesmen and visitors, being particularly fond of animals and having no fear of them, encounter little difficulty with dogs.

But the majority of people, quite understandably, cannot help feeling apprehensive when a dog comes at them barking furiously, and they naturally tend to doubt the owner's assurance that the dog never bites.

Visitors, therefore, cannot be always blamed for taking defensive action although this itself is liable only to make the dog worse and more likely to bite.

The solution of the problem lies squarely on the shoulders of the dog owners who having acquired a dog should accept the responsibility of keeping it under control.

So dog owners be good citizens and consider the postman, the milkman the newsboy, etc, and also thereby save your dog from coming to harm.

CHILDREN NEGLECTED

Editor, Bulletin—Why is it that the governments who claim that children are the country's greatest asset, do nothing for them, leaving them to the care of parents, until they start school?

True, there are wonderful parents whose whole idea when they bring children into the world is to do the right thing for them, striving to have strong, healthy, boys and girls. But more often it's the other way round, ignorant, indifferent, lazy parents, who got married to escape work.

The children they bring into the world are to be pitied because they don't get a chance until school age. Parents knowing nothing of feeding a child except out of a can, children spending five and six years of their lives with bad colds and coughs which settle on the lungs and Tb. develops. A bottle of cod liver oil is no use here, but an X-ray of the chest is what is needed.

Teeth decay causes the child untold suffering, besides poisoning the whole system. They should be taken to a dentist.

They put children to sleep in a noisy place, where their whole night's sleep is disturbed. They need nine or 10 hours of good sound sleep at night, to be healthy, not three hours at night and three or four more through the daytime, when the parents feel sleepy themselves.

The government mails to the parents a cheque each month. They should also send a card and have it filled in by government-appointed doctors, who should examine every child from birth up to school age and report the child's health every three months. This might cost money, but it would also empty many of the hospitals for children who are there through the ignorance and neglect of parents.

NO "OBEY"

Editor, Bulletin— We are inclined to laugh at the suffragettes objecting to "obey" in the marriage ceremony of the Princess. They point out that she will be required to take a vow which, as future Queen of England, she has neither the right to take nor the power to fulfill.

"Obey" belongs to the time when the man regarded his wife, not as his partner and his equal, but as one of his possessions, his chattels, someone to be ordered around like the rest of his slaves however he, in his superior wisdom, saw fit. It has no place in an enlightened age.

Marriage by a justice of the peace is legally binding, but it is commendable in a young woman that she should want to be married by her own minister, in her own church, or her own home. But when she does that, the church requires her to take a vow which —and the church knows it—she has no intention whatever of fulfilling. That is immoral.

Like Galileo she takes the vow, but instead of "Still it moves . . ." she says: "That's what you think."

Why shouldn't the church lead, instead of always having to be dragged along trailing her feet? The church should get abreast of the times, do what she should have done long ago—delete the "obey" from the marriage ceremony.

SLAVERY

Editor, Bulletin—Irrespective of its origin, Communism has become a manifestation of pan-Slavism with similar ambitions to those of Nazism.

The old propaganda is still industriously pressed, its efficiency is still such that we know it has caused some of our own people to repudiate honor and patriotism.

It has been indirectly assisted by the blunders selfishness and greed have caused capitalism to commit.

Much printed matter has traces of propaganda emanating from capital or Communism. It is always presented as a high moral issue.

However we have our votes that can be used to curb the injustices of capitalism.

If we surrender to Communism we will remain enslaved indefinitely.

King of Trans-Jordan Declares:

U.S. Almost Solely Responsible For Present Turmoil in Palestine

NEW YORK, Oct. 31. — (AP) — King Abdullah of Trans-Jordan declared today in an article in a magazine that the United States is almost solely responsible for present turmoil in the Holy Land.

THE ZIONIST settlements established in Palestine since the First World War would have been impossible without American funds, the Arab ruler, whose country adjoins Palestine on the East, said.

He continued:

"This was contributed by American Jewry in an idealistic effort to help their fellows. The motive was worthy; the results were disastrous. The contributions were by private individuals, but they were almost entirely Americans, and, as a nation, only America can answer for it.

"THE PRESENT catastrophe may be laid almost entirely at your door. Your government, almost alone in the world, is insisting on the immediate admission of 100,000 more Jews into Palestine—to be followed by countless additional ones. This will have the most frightful consequences in bloody chaos beyond anything ever hinted at in Palestine before.

"It is your press and political leadership almost alone in the world, who press this demand. It is almost entirely American money which hires or buys the 'refugee ships' that steam illegally toward Palestine; American money which pays their crews . . ."

The king said Palestine had been almost 100-per cent Arab for nearly 2,000 years but that since the First World War the country had been forced to accept 535,000 Jews, so that the Zionists now comprise one-third of the Holy Land's 1,800,000 inhabitants.

THE ARGUMENT that Palestine is a Jewish land was labeled "absurd" by Abdullah. He said nearly all of the Jews were driven from the country by Roman emperors by 135 A. D.

"This was 1,815 years ago," he wrote, "and yet the Jews solemnly pretend they still own Palestine."

Sentenced Man Enters Appeal

TORONTO, Oct. 31.—(CP)—Notice of appeal was filed yesterday at Osgoode Hall on behalf of 35-year-old Charles George Martin of Vancouver, convicted Oct. 13 of murder and sentenced to be hanged next Jan. 8. The appeal is in his handwriting.

Martin was convicted at Port Arthur, Ont., in the fatal shooting last Dec. 10 of Josegraph Grant, 71-year-old Toronto prospector, at their mining claim near Schreiber, Ont. He also is charged with murder in the shooting of Grant's young prospector-companion, Marcel Duchesneau. That case was traversed to the Spring Assizes of the Ontario Supreme Court.

Canada Must Aid In Europe's Rescue

WINNIPEG, Oct. 31.—(CP)—Donald M. Fleming, Progressive-Conservative MP for Toronto-Eglinton, yesterday said in an interview that "Canada must be prepared to do her part, on grounds of self-interest and humanitarianism, to rescue Europe from hunger and Bolshevism."

Here to address the commencement exercises of Manitoba University's United College, Mr. Fleming said that Canadians had purchased their stake in Europe's freedom by sacrifices in two world wars.

New Statistics Show:

U.K. Crime Increases 50 Per Cent in 7 Years

By Michael O'Mara

LONDON, Oct. 31.—(CP)—Crime in England and Wales increased throughout the war years—the 1945 total of offences known to the police exceeded that of 1939 by more than 50 per cent—recently-issued Home Office statistics show.

CRIMES OF violence, sexual offences and breaking and entering all showed sweeping increases during the seven years listed, but murder, which reached a peak of 159 known cases in 1942, was not noticeably more prevalent when the war ended than when it broke out.

Four hundred and seventy-four persons were tried for murder during 1939-45, of whom 174 were found both sane and guilty. Excluding minors and those saved by later legal action from the scaffold, 138 persons were liable to hanging. Of these, 82 were executed and 56 reprieved.

Crime increased more rapidly among women than men. Indictable offences with which females were charged increased by 73 per cent during the war while among males the rise was by 44 per cent.

DRUNKENNESS decreased each year of the war, falling from 51,012 cases in 1939 to 19,368 cases in 1945. Other petty offences—traffic infractions and disorderly behavior, for instance—also showed decreases. But offences by prostitutes increased about five per cent and brothel-keeping more than 400 per cent. Convictions for neglect of children more than doubled.

Of 1,754 offenders convicted under Defence Regulations during 1940-45, 552 were penalized for looting, a form of crime which followed the havoc caused by German air raids. More than 900,000 persons were dealt with by magistrates' courts for breaking blackout regulations.

Sixteen enemy agents were sentenced to death under the Treachery Act, of whom 15 were executed and one had his sentence commuted. Three persons were sentenced to death for treason and of these one had his sentence commuted. Both John Amery and William (Lord Haw-Haw) Joyce were executed.

Both suicides and attempted suicides decreased during the early part of the war but increased in 1945.

Pope Sylvester II is credited with the invention of clocks in 996 A.D.

McGill Lads Want Co-Eds Lead Cheering

MONTREAL, Oct. 31.—(CP)—Girl cheer leaders will provide the answer to the question "what's the matter with old McGill" as far as 400 of the Redmen's football fans are concerned.

The students, at a meeting Wednesday, passed a resolution asking the university senate to allow the use of girl cheer leaders at sports events. They are taboo at McGill now.

Speakers at Yesterday's meeting contended that girl cheer leaders encourage athletes considerably and add materially to a team's chances of winning a game.

After the walloping's McGill's football team took on successive weekends from Western and Toronto, the students apparently are willing to try anything that may brighten the gloomy situation.

Paper Charges Impudent Attack

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 31.—(AP)—The pro-government newspaper El Lider, echoing a government statement, assailed the Washington Post yesterday for what it declared was an impudent attack on Argentina's policy with regard to grain sales to Europe.

A government statement, replying to a Post editorial, declared last night that the Washington newspaper's accusations were "false and intentionally malicious."

(The Post said editorially Sunday: "Argentina has consistently refused to participate in any system of international grain allocations on the basis of need. She has insisted on selling to the highest bidder as a sort of international black marketeer."

(The newspaper asserted it was "oversimplification to say the Peron government of Argentina is witholding grain from hungry nations," but added that "Peron buys wheat from Argentina farmers at $1.25 a bushel . . . then sells it on the world market at anywhere from $5 to $6 a bushel.")

Neutral diplomatic sources said here Argentina currently is asking European countries about $4.05 a bushel for wheat, delivered alongside ships. (The Chicago grain maret price for wheat as of Wednesday was $2.92. Canada sells to Britain at $1.55 a bushel.)

El Lider, commenting on the Government's statement, declared that "the impudence of the Washington Post and the cynicism of the United Press in distributing to the whole world the fallacy in question are, as observed, abominable." It added that the Buenos Aires newspaper La Prensa "also merits reputation" for publishing the Post editorial.

Turned Wrong Tap

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., Oct. 31.—(AP)—Abe Alianell, 52, took a lighted candle with him when he went under his house yesterday to turn off a water pipe. At hospital where he was treated for second and third degree burns of the arms, face and chest, he told officials he opened the wrong cap—the one on the gas pipe.

Sir Oswald Mosley To Address Meeting

LONDON, Oct. 31.—(Reuters)—Sir Oswald Mosley, former British Facist Leader who was interned throughout the war, is to address a public meeting shortly in the east end of London where there have been disturbances for several Sundays in succession as a result of conflicts between Communists and alleged Facists.

Home Secretary Chuter Ede was asked in the Commons yesterday if he would prevent Sir Oswald from speaking. Ede Replied. "I have no power to decide who shall or shall not be allowed to speak at a public meeting. It will be the duty of the police to preserve order."

Lots of Whales

LONDON, Oct. 31.—(Reuters)—A Soviet whaling flodilla sailing in the northern waters of the Pacific has bagged 606 whales since April, the Moscow radio reported yesterday.

THAT AWFUL WHISPER SHOCKED ME FOR DAYS!

1. SO EMBARRASSING! "I just couldn't get over it—those two girls from the office not wanting to ride up in the elevator with me—whispering that I was so careless about 'B.O.'!"

2. "THAT WHISPER nagged me for days. Then I faced it—anyone can have 'B.O.' My fault was not guarding against it."

3. "EVER SINCE I've used Lifebuoy daily, I know I'm safe from 'B.O.'... because Lifebuoy gives me all-over protection."

Its fresh, clean scent is your guarantee of protection

Lifebuoy's clean scent is your guarantee of protection. It's a signal that Lifebuoy's thick, mild lather is giving you all-over freshness. In a few seconds the Lifebuoy scent has disappeared and so has every trace of "B.O." (body odor). Lifebuoy is the only soap specially made to stop "B.O."

And, tests prove you can build up resistance against "B.O." by bathing with Lifebuoy every day. Try it for just seven days. See how fresh and clean your skin feels! Once you've discovered how Lifebuoy frees you from "B.O.", gives you longer-lasting protection, you won't ever miss your "Bath a day the Lifebuoy way!"

Tells How Planes Stopped U-Boats

By STUART UNDERHILL

LONDON, Oct. 31.—(CP)—The part played by RAF and RCAF planes patrolling the lonely North Atlantic in choking off the German U-boat threat to Normandy invasion plans was recalled yesterday in a dispatch written by Air Chief Marshall Sir Sholto Douglas, then air coastal command chief of the RAF.

The dispatch, published as a supplement of the London Gazette, noted that the Germans attempted a hurried reinforcement of U-boat squadrons in the Bay of Biscay in mid-May, 1944. Thanks to tireless patrols, only a handful got through.

"During the period from mid-May to the end of July we sighted 75 U-boats in northern waters and attacked 51," Sir Sholto wrote. "Of these, 16 were sunk or probably sunk and 12 were damaged.

"These successes were not achieved without cost. No. 162 Canadian Squadron sank four U-boats and lost three Catalinas in July alone."

A posthumous Victoria Cross was awarded to the captain of one of the lost RCAF Catalinas. (Flt. Lt. David E. (Bud) Hornell of Mimico, Ont., received the V.C. posthumously for pressing a successful U-boat attack in June, 1944.)

Wheat Exports Make Big Gain

LONDON, Oct. 31. —(Reuters)—Canadian exports of wheat to Britain increased 60 per cent between 1939 and 1945, Board of Trade statistics showed yesterday. Between 1937 and 1939 Canada sent Britain an average of 36,000,000 hundredweight of wheat a year. In 1945 the quantity was 61,000,000 hundredweight.

Long Underwear Museum Pieces

LONDON, Oct. 31.—(AP)—A hardy Scots physician, scoffing at the British male's sensitiveness to chill winter winds, launched a one-man campaign yesterday to cut short one of clothing-rationed Britain's few remaining luxuries. Dr. R. Passmore, writing in "The Practitioner," a leading medical journal, declared sternly:

"Long underpants are still often exhibited to us in the consulting room instead of being relegated to the museum, where they rightly belong."

Cholera Victims

CAIRO, Oct. 31.— (AP) —The Health Ministry last night reported 402 new deaths in Egypt's cholera epidemic, making a total of 7,224 since Sept. 23, but Director-General Mohamed Nazif Bey said conditions are improving

Leafs Eke Out 3-2 Victory Over Flyers

Gibson Scores Clincher With Seconds to Go

LETHBRIDGE, Alta., Oct. 31. — (CP) — Lethbridge Maple Leafs edged out Edmonton Flyers of the Western Canada Senior Hockey League 3-2 here last night in a game which produced everything but goals in the second period and resulted in major penalties to Gil Nordin, newcomer to the Leafs' lineup, and Alex Pringle, for mixing it.

The result put Leafs into a four-point tie with Flyers for third place in the league standing. Calgary Stampeders and Saskatoon Quakers are tied for second place with six points apiece, Regina Capitals leading the parade with eight.

A GOAL BY youthful Billy Gibson, scored with only 43 seconds of game time remaining in the third period, gave Leafs their victory.

Jack Taggart dribbled the puck through the Flyers and passed to Gibson, who was in the clear and beat Al Rollins cleanly with a shot into the left-hand corner of the net at the 19:17 mark.

UNTIL THEN the final period had been fast and furious, marked by five penalties and rough play. Rollins and Hughes turned in sensational performances in their respective nets, each handling seven shots.

Flyers' defence proved almost inpenetrable in the early part of the first period. They took a quick lead when Andy Clovechok slipped the puck into the left-hand corner of the net on an ankle-high shot from 30 feet out. Fewer than three minutes later Flyers made it 2-0, Maher beating Hughes with a shot fired through a maze of players.

BOB KIRKPATRICK raised Leafs' hopes when he scored at 13:12 off Taggart's rebound. Flyers' defence weakened, and Hec Negrello tied things up when he took a pass from Kirkpatrick, skated in front of Rollins and pulled him out of position to score.

Flyers were outplayed in the second period. Negrello, Kirkpatrick and Roy Heximer had Rollins at their mercy on different occasions, but he was unbeatable, handling shots from close range with ease.

FLYERS PROVED most dangerous near the end of the period, after Boorman had been banished for cross-checking Maher. Clovechok missed the open net just as the bell sounded.

Edmonton — Rollins; Watt, Young; Rimstad; Pringle, Clovechok. Subs — Pettinger, Maher, Black, McPherson, Buttrey, Harrison, Smitten, Kreller.

Lethbridge — Hughes; Luke, Taggart; Latoski; Heximer, Hall. Subs — Gray, Nordin, Boorman, Gibson, Simpson, Menzies, Kirkpatrick, Negrello.

Officials — Mel Friend; Elmer Reynolds, Eric Dolighan, all of Lethbridge.

SUMMARY:

First Period: 1—Edmonton, Clovechok (Rimstad, Pringle) 7:52; 2—Edmonton, Maher (Black, Kreller) 10.35; 3—Lethbridge, Kirkpatrick (Taggart) 13:12; 4—Lethbridge, Negrello (Kirkpatrick, Nordin) 19:27. Penalties — Pettinger, Taggart, Young.

Second Period: Scoring—None. Penalties — Nordin, Pringle, Maher, Gray, Young, Boorman.

Third Period: 5—Lethbridge, Gibson (Taggart) 19:17. Penalties — Hall, Young (2), Heximer, Pettinger.

LEAGUE STANDING

	W	L	T	F	A	Pts
Regina	4	1	0	21	17	8
Calgary	3	1	0	23	13	6
Saskatoon	2	3	2	26	32	6
Edmonton	1	4	2	18	21	4
Lethbridge	2	3	0	15	20	4

Two Goals Didn't Stand Up

Flyers got away to a good start against Lethbridge Maple Leafs last night when Andy Clovechok (left) and Billy Maher (right) bulged the twine early in the first period. However, Leafs came back to knot the count in the same session and a last minute tally by Billy Gibson, ex-Native Son junior, gave Leafs a 3-2 win.

SPORTS BULLETIN

O'Connor to Explain Stand

Ball Clubs to Review Sox Suspension Order

CHICAGO, Oct. 31. —(AP)— President Will Harridge of the American League yesterday projected his organization into the controversy raging between A. B. Chandler, commissioner of baseball, the Chicago White Sox and Leslie O'Connor, suspended general manager of the Sox.

Harridge called a meeting of league club owners in Cleveland today to "consider" the action taken against the White Sox and O'Connor.

HARRIDGE revealed that Chandler had requested the removal of O'Connor from baseball's executinve council presumably because Chandler was of the opinion that since O'Connor remains under suspension he could not serve.

Other members of the council are Chandler, Warren Giles, general manager of the Cincinnati club, and the presidents of the American and National Leagues, Harridge and Ford Frick.

O'CONNOR will attend today's meeting to explain his side of the controversy and to exhibit correspondence that passed between himself and Chandler over the signing of an obscure 17-year-old Chicago high school boy pitcher, George Zoeterman.

The signing resulted in a $500 fine and later suspension of O'Connor and the White Sox because of O'Connor's refusal to remit on the plea that he had not violated any rule.

ZOETERMAN, promising left-handed pitcher, signed to a 1948 contract after he had served as a batting practice pitcher with the White Sox on their last eastern trip. Zoeterman pitched four no-hit games in the last two years.

Baseball rules specially provide that students in high schools belonging to the National Federation of High School Athletic Associations may not be signed until after graduating, or until after their class has graduated. Zoeterman will not graduate until next January.

CHANDLER declared Zoeterman's contract void and fined O'Connor $500.

In declining to pay the fine, O'Connor pointed that Chicago Christian, a private school which Zoeterman attends, does not belong to the National Federation.

WHEN O'CONNOR noted that Chandler had broadened the rule to cover all high school students in the United States and Canada O'Connor insisted the rule must be applied as written and that Chandler had exceeded his rights in expanding the interpretation.

The ban prohibits the White Sox and O'Connor from taking any part in the major league draft to be held in Cincinnatti Nov. 10 or from having any representatives at the executive council sessions and joint meetings of the major leagues.

Suggests Canadian Junior Grid Final

TORONTO, Oct. 31— (CP) — Suggestion of a Canadian junior rugby championship final was endorsed today by Jimmy Coleman in his sports column in the Toronto Globe and Mail. Mentioning that Vancouver Blue Bombers had beaten Calgary 35-0 in a Western junior series Coleman said "It's high time that the Canadian junior series was revived.

Personally we've felt for some years that the junior football played on the Pacific Coast was on a par with that played in Ontario." And he added, without explanation: "We know some fellow who'd be willing to underwrite the venture—even to the extent of hauling a team all the way from Vancouver."

School Grid Club In Action Tonight

Victoria high school's youthful gridders, conquerers of Westglen by a convincing 18-5 score in their 1947 rugby football debut Wednesday night will close out their season's play by mixing it with Eastwood on the Clarke Stadium turf, tonight at 8 p.m.

Regarded as just a bunch of pick-ups before the curtain went up Wednesday night, Coach Ted Sawchuck's expert pass throwers and chargers, are now tagged as the team to beat.

And from the other side of the fence comes word that Don Baker's Eastwood lads maybe just the team that can hand out the beating.

The tussle tonight will again feature Victoria's 40-piece band, accompanied by seven majorettes.

Indians Shellack Philadelphia 6-0

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Oct. 31. — (CP) —Led by Eldy Kobusen who tallied twice, Springfield Indians last night won their first home game of the American Hockey League season, blanking Philadelphia Rockets 6-0. Harry Frost, Al Kuntz, Don Webster and Ross Johnstone were the other scorers.

Laycoe Deal Petered Out

Hawks Turned Down Offers by Canadiens

MONTREAL, Oct. 31.—(CP)—There's a lot of smoke going up around the National Hockey League circuit over Chicago Black Hawks' plight, but there's no fire at Montreal Forum for the very good reason that the trade-minded Hawks themselves put it out.

Cries of anguish have come from President Bill Tobin and Coach Johnny Gottselig that the other clubs are giving the Hawks the business and won't let good defencemen, now down in the minors with stout strings attached, move up to the practically defenceless Hawks.

Toronto Maple Leafs and Montreal Canadiens have been the principal targets of the Chicago blasts. From Canadiens the Hawks would like to get Hal Laycoe, now playing defence with Buffalo of the American Hockey League.

DURING THE training season, said Canadiens' general manager Frank Selke yesterday, Chicago failed to continue negotiations that still left a Laycoe deal open. Then, with the Hawk situation becoming increasingly desperate, Chicago "made a ridiculous offer involving cash and one or two untried defencemen."

And back in the summer Hawks "consistently refused" to consider Frankie Eddolls, who was later traded to New York Rangers.

From the Hawk training camp came a wire asking "which defenceman we might consider in a deal for Alex Kaleta."

THE GIST OF THE reply was that Laycoe was deal material for Kaleta, but there would have to be "other arrangements."

The Hawks ignored this telegram until the season was a few games old and then came, the ridiculous offer."

In view of this and the previous refusal of Eddolls, Selke felt "the blame, if any, must lie on Chicago's own door-step."

"Anyway," said Selke, "hockey's rivalry is best maintained when each team looks strictly after its own strength."

Obtains Perfect Cribbage Hand

A "fifteen-two" counter ever since he was in knee-pants, Ken Gardner, 10233 116 street, finally obtained a cribbage enthusiasts' dream—a perfect 29-point hand—while playing with his father, Glen J. Gardner, of Lethbridge, here last night.

The rare hand, dealt by his father, contained three fives and the jack of clubs. After discarding two cards into the crib, Ken cut the matching five. Fifteen-two, fifteen-four, up to 29.

Spotlighting Fritzie Hanson

New Sport Comeback May be in the Making

WINNIPEG, Oct. 31—(CP)—A new chapter in sport "come-backs" may be written within the next few days, with Fritz (Twinkle-Toes) Hanson, probably the best-known Western Canadian football star, playing the leading role.

The 36-year-old former North Dakota State College flash, surprised the football world this fall by reporting to Calgary Stampeders' camp. "It's just a publicity stunt, he won't keep at it," said the grandstand quarterbacks.

BUT THE little insurance salesman, transferred to Calgary by his Winnipeg head office, surprised them, and probably himself, by sticking with the club despite added weight and loss of speed.

Although he has scored only two touchdowns in regular league play this year, one of which knocked Saskatchewan Roughriders out of the playoffs, Hanson could supply a touch of drama, if not irony, to the western final by leading Stampeders to victory over his former club, Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

It was in the blue and gold of the Bombers that he made his debut in the Western Conference in 1935. With them he gained the nickname, among many others, of "Mr. Football."

Football always has been a major factor in Hanson's life. He loves the game and the roar of the crowd, reasons for which the 145-pound dynamo delayed his retirement, despite a statement in 1939, the year many followers thought would be his last.

Hanson then said: "I'd like to quit at the peak. I've seen too many football players who were brilliant in their prime and bum when they stayed too long. The smart guy is the athlete who gives to sport everything at his command, gets out before he's lost it all, before he no longer has anything to give."

That was sound reasoning, and Hanson probably intended to do just that. Not that he is a bum in the eyes of fans now, but Mr. Football forgot one thing . . . a player's love for the game.

PROBABLY the chapter in his spectacular career most satisfying to Hanson is that of 1935, when he led the Bombers to the western title and a Dominion championship. In the Canadian final against Hamilton Tigers, Hanson electrified 9,000 wild-eyed spectators by carrying the ball for a total gain of more than 300 yards. In the third quarter he galloped 75 yards for a touchdown which supplied the winning margin in Winnipeg's 18-12 victory, the West's first Canadian championship.

Wherever the blonde flash went, the crowds would shout "give the ball to Hanson," and not without reason. It was said that he looked better losing 10 yards than the average back did gaining 10.

Adanacs Will Play Boxla in England

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C., Oct. 31. — (CP) — New Westminster Adanacs, 1947 Canadian lacrosse champions are going to the Olympics to play an exhibition game against a British team, it was learned authoritatively here last night.

The disclosure followed reports from the British Olympic Committee in London and from Gene Dopp, secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Amateur Lacrosse Association that no Canadian team would attend because it did not seem the venture would be financially successful.

Edmonton Club Curlers Elect J. A. MacLeod

Failure to obtain artificial ice this season has not dimmed the enthusiasm of the Edmonton Curling Club members.

Last night 150 turned out for the semi-annual meeting, elected J. A. MacLeod a director in place of the late Bert Hill, and made plans for the season.

SECRETARY - Treasurer George Laight announced that the club already had 34 rinks and expected a full compliment of 48 before the season gets underway.

It was passed unanimously to accept the proposal of the Granite Club to hold a three-day playdown for the T. Eaton Trophy. The proposal calls for participation of all rinks in the city with the winner being decided on a percentage basis. Tentative dates are January 5, 6 and 7.

MR. LAIGHT also announced that Reg Swanson would be icemaker and that curling would commence as soon as weather conditions permitted.

President Bob Edwards was in the chair.

Huskies Bringing 32 Grid Players

The college football season winds up at Clarke Stadium Saturday night when the Saskatchewan Huskies battle Alberta's Golden Bears. The fixture is scheduled for 8:15 under the lights and will be the second of a two-game-total-point series for the Hardy Cup.

Coach Maury Van Vliet's Albertans lead the round 20-0 and are expected to open up with extensive aerial attacks in Saturday's fray. The Bears tapered off their last workout of the year Thursday.

THE HUSKIES arrive Saturday morning, 32 strong, for the Alberta invasion. Coach Van Vliet is expected to dress 25 men with fullback Steve Mendryk the only doubtful starter. The Edmonton freshman suffered a stomach injury in the Saskatoon game last Saturday and has been taking it easy this week.

Following are the complete line-ups:

Saskatchewan — ends, Jack Hall, Vince McDonald, Lorne Gold, Bob Cherry, Gerry Kaumeyer; tackles, Keith Clearwater, Army Kroeger, Tom Foskett, Wayne Hannah, Vic Zubko, Abe Jampolsky; guards, Gerry Kennedy, Charlie Comiskey, Jack Davidson, Ernie Kroeger, Gord O'Brien, Andy Anderson; centres, Hugh Harry, Bob Arnot, Jim Hay; quarterbacks, Stan Green, Marsh Mackenzie, Jim Denholm; halfbacks, Lloyd Salmon, Bill Warshik, Joe Oberhoffner, Vic Pizzey, Lorne Carroll, Keith Laatch, Art Meyer, Tom Ross, Matt Baldwin, Jack Wooran.

Conacher Stands Pat on Decision

TORONTO, Oct. 31. — (CP) — Frank Boucher, manager and coach of New York Rangers of the National Hockey League, said last night he had not been able to persuade winger Roy Conacher to reconsider a retirement decision but that he had "not given up."

Boucher said the question of salary had nothing to do with Conacher's decision to quit hockey. Conacher, traded to Rangers by Detroit Red Wings, had been "satisfied" with the offer made him by Rangers but had decided not to continue in hockey.

Providence Reds Nip Capitals 8-7

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 31.—(CP) —Despite three goals by Rod Morrison and tow more by Cliff Simpson, Indianapolis Capitals lost their American Hockey League game last night, bowing 8-7 to Providence Reds.

Nels Podolsky and Barry Sullivan completed the Cap's total. Carl Liscombe and Roger Bedard paced the Reds with two counters apiece while singletons were added by Al Stanley, Johnny Chad, Whitey Prokop and Ab Collings.

Avenue Curlers Have 48 Rinks For This Year

Over 100 attended the semi-annual meeting of Alberta Avenue Curling Club held in the club rooms Thursday night. President George McMurray was in the chair. Walter Murphy is club secretary-treasurer.

Forty-eight rinks will be curling at the Avenue this coming season, that number being two more than last year.

BILL GORDON will again be in charge of ice this winter. Chairman of the draw committee is Johnny Metz.

Plans for the coming season were discussed and question of T. Eaton Co. inter-club games was left in the hands of the executive.

A social evening followed the business meeting.

Cops 6th Straight Title

Vic Stops Scona 12-0 In Bantam Rugby Final

Victoria's bantam pigskin artists captured their sixth straight city championship Thursday afternoon, when they crushed the previously undefeated Scona contingent 12-0 in the final oval tussle of the inter-school six-man rugby league at the South Side Athletic grounds.

Barry McMillan starry Vic performer, who went over for a touchdown, booted a convert and helped in a rouge play, along with Walter Hladin, who scooted over for a major score, were the big guns in the north-sider's attack.

THE SCONA green and golds, who pulled four straight victories out of the bag in the south-west group league this season, showed great form in the first few minutes of play. With a series of ground attacks, they advanced to Vic's five-yard line, but the early scoring thrust was stopped, when the champ's wall held firm.

Vic went for the first touchdown of the game mid-way through the initial canto, when McMillan shook loose from a maze of Scona players and raced 35-yards to pay-off dirt. He made it 6-0 by kicking the ball over the bar.

BOTH TEAMS put up stone wall defences during the second and third qaurters and play was confined mostly to the mid-field.

But the Vic squad wasn't to be held. In the final canto, McMillan booted the oval over Scona's goal line, and with the aid of Ernie Solowan and Ed Saddy, rouged a south-side player to make the score sheet read 7-0.

A FEW MINUTES later, with the red and blacks well inside the Scona territory, Hladin scooted over for the final touchdown.

The Scona gridders put on the pressure during the remaining minutes, but after getting to Vic's 12-yard strip, they lost possession of the ball for faling to make a first down. The whistle tooted with the pigskin in Vic's possession.

DAVE ASTLEY, with his effortless drive, was the standout on the Scona squad, while the entire Vic team played snappy ball throughout.

Ted Clarke, who was injured while tackling Scona's Ray Cruthers in the first play of the game, returned to the lineup in the second frame and played a smart game on the line.

Scona — Cruthers, Morie, Astley, Morozowski, Kulak, Hodson, Mantion, Cherski, Hunter, Kirstine, Gibson.

Victoria — Carnegie, Lashuk, McMillan, Hladin, Babiuk, Simovitch, Solowan, Saddy, Clarke, Afajanice, Shaben, Shandro, Reid.

Officials — referee, Stockwell; umpire, Kimball; head linesman, Millar.

SUMMARY:

First Quarter — Victoria, touchdown, (McMillan); Victoria, convert, (McMillan).

Second Quarter — No scoring.

Third Quarter — No scoring.

Fourth Quarter — Victoria, rouge, (Solowan, McMillan, Saddy); Victoria, touchdown (Hladin).

Injury-Riddled Canadiens Have To "Sit Pretty"

MONTREAL, Oct 31.—(CP)—Despite the loss of three players since the National Hockey League season opened two weeks ago, Montreal Canadiens have no immediate intention of bringing in new material and will "have to sit pretty," general manager Frank Selke said yesterday.

ALL THREE on the injured list are wing men. Rip Riopelle suffered a slight concussion in the Oct. 18 game here against New York Rangers. Murph Chamberlain went out with a broken leg last Sunday at Detroit. Tod Campeau's shoulder was dislocated Wednesday night in Toronto.

Riopelle should return to action any day now. Chamberlain is on the shelf indefinitely, maybe for the season. Campeau's injury, a repetition of a dislocation suffered last year with Montreal Royals, is not believed particularly serious. He may be out of the game only a few days.

SELKE WAS asked if he thought the Leafs "laid it on" in their 3-1 victory over their inter-city rivals Wednesday night.

"No, and we're not crying rough play," he said. "The Leafs are still world champions. Against the All-Star team before the season opened and against Canadiens Wednesday night Leafs showed they well earned their victory in last year's playoff."

Boxing Change

LONDON, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Britain's Boxing Board of Control yesterday took some of the glamor out of the ring by deleting a regulation which required fighters to wear colored trunks. From now on they must be "dark colored regulation" trunks.

Rookie Nets Two As St. Paul Wins

ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 31—(CP)—Rookie Morry Dowling scored two tie-breaking goals to give St. Paul Saints a 5-3 victory over Omaha Knights in a United States Hockey League game last night. Hal Brown, Joe Shack and Bob Dill were the other St. Paul marksmen while Boyce, Forbes and Senick tallied for the losers.

Richard Holding Two-Point Lead

MONTREAL, Oct. 31—(CP)—Canadiens' Maurice (Rocket) Richard picked up a goal at Toronto Wednesday night to consolidate his hold on first place in the National Hockey League scoring race with eight points. Linemate Hector (Toe) Blake moved into sole possession of second place with an assist, one point back of Richard.

Third position is held jointly by Toronto's Syl Apps, Montreal's Elmer Lach, Detroit's Jim Conacher, Detroit's Jerry Couture and Chicago's Max Bentley. Apps, Leaf captain, moved up from fifth position with one goal and two assists.

'Peg Goalie Making Big Hit in Minors

WINDSOR, Ont., Oct. 31—(CP)—That oohing and ahing which reverberated through the Detroit Olympia when International Amateur Hockey League play got underway there this week can all be laid to the shifty, goalmouth work of one Terrance Gordon Sawchuk.

Start Playing for Keeps

Crucial Stage Reached In Canadian Football

WINNIPEG, Oct. 31.—(CP)—They start to play for keeps tomorrow in the Western Canada Football Union where Calgary Stampeders and Winnipeg Blue Bombers start a two-game playoff to decide which will represent the West in the big East-West classic at Toronto Nov. 29.

The six-game week-end program in the East winds up the Ontario Rugby Football Union schedule, starts a final struggle for first place in the final Big Four standings and gives Queen's University another chance at that seemingly hopeless task of hobbling the rambunctious Western Mutsangs.

THE OPENING game of the home-and-home total-points series in the West is scheduled for Winnipeg and the teams go back to Calgary for the deciding encounter Nov. 8.

The Big Four battle is between Ottawa Rough Riders and Toronto Argonauts who will settle the Big Four leadership in games in Toronto tomorrow and Ottawa Nov. 8 in a preview of their two-game playoff for the Union title set for Nov. 11 and 15.

COACH TEDDER Morris is emphatic that as far as his Dominion championship Argos are concerned they're playing for keeps in winding up the schedule and are out to finish in first place.

Nothing is at stake in a Sunday meeting at Montreal between Hamilton Tigers and the hometown Alouettes. However, the rejuvenated Tigers could climb up to third place in the final Big Four standing if they can beat the Alouettes Sunday and then in Hamilton the following Saturday. Both are out of the playoff picture.

Mother, Daughter Found Murdered

TACOMA, Wash., Oct. 31.—(AP)—A mother and her 18-year-old daughter were found brutally slain early yesterday in their south side home and police Lieut. Earl Cornelison said a 45-year-old transient had confessed to the slaying. Cornelison identified the victims as Mrs. Bertha Kludt, 53, a widow, and her daughter, Beverly June Kludt, 18. Both women had been struck from behind the head with a heavy instrument. The man, who Cornelison said identified himself as Jake Bird, was captured in a clump of brush near the Kludt home. He carried a large spike.

During the gold rush days of '49, a pinch of gold dust was the popular price for food and drink in California.

Ukrainian Resistance Guerillas Battle Russians in East Europe

By Tom Reedy

MUNICH, Germany, Oct. 31—(AP) — A former high-ranking Polish official now in exile says at least 50,000 anti-Communists are waging guerilla warfare with the Soviet army behind Russian lines in eastern Europe.

THE FORMER official, who would permit himself to be identified only as "Mr. G.", said the anti-Communist bands are led by a Ukrainian named Bendera on whose head the Russian secret police have put a price.

(A United States Army report released in Frankfurt in September said the Ukrainian resistance army fighting for Ukrainian independence is so large that units estimated to number 15,000 to 20,000 men have engaged Polish and Soviet Russian troops.)

Mr. G. told a fantastic story of strife within Russian-occupied territory, much of it stirred up by the partisan Bendera whose followers are called the Enderovezi. Some of them lately have slipped over the border into the American zone of Germany, creating a ticklish problem for the U.S. constabulary.

THE U.S. ARMY report based partly on interrogation of 40 Ukrainian guerillas who fled from Poland into the U.S. zone of Germany, said a group of 4,000 were headed south through Czechoslovakia from south Poland to the U.S. zone and that additional anti-Communist underground fighters were reported en route.

"Benera is one of 2,000,000 Ukrainians who lived in Polish territory and had to leave Poland before the war for his leadership of Ukrainian separatists," said Mr. G.

"He found protection in Germany and was financed by the Nazis. Later on, the SS division Galvzia was organized from Ukrainian nationalists. Bendera lost his love for the Germans when they occupied his native land.

"In 1942, when the Germans dissolved the Ukrainian government at Lemberg, Bendera went underground and organized opposition, joining with the Polish underground. It was only natural that at that time he was fully supported by the Russians."

WHEN THE RUSSIANS swept back into the Ukraine, Mr. G. related, Bendera had decided they were no better than the Nazis. The Poles issued an amnesty, but Bendera didn't trust it. He and his followers continued their guerilla warfare.

Mr. G. said the governments of Poland, Czechoslovakia and the USSR reached a secret agreement to liquidate the remaining anti-Communists, notably the Benderovezi, and by combined action forced the partisans into a constantly-diminishing territory.

Some of Bendera's men broke out of the ring, Mr. G. said, and now are fighting their way through Slovakia and Hungary to join anti-Communists in Yugoslavia. Smaller units trickled into the American zone of Germany. The Soviet secret police caught a guerilla "commander" with his staff in Prague, a severe blow to Bendera, Mr. G. said.

(The U.S. Army report disclosed the capture by the Czechoslovaks of a guerilla named "Burlak" who was described as the "right hand man and strategist" of the mysterious Ukrainian leader, Gen. Bendera.)

To Promote Dutch-Canadian Trade

In Montreal to open the Canadian office of the Netherlands-Canada Institute, J. A. Krygsman is shown above with his English wife, after arriving recently from Holland. Mr. Krysman, formerly with the Chamber of Commerce in Rotterdam, will act as the Canadian Liaison Officer of the Institute whose head offices are in Rotterdam, and which hopes to promote increased trade between the two countries. Enthusiasm for Canada and Canadians remains very high in the Netherlands, Mr. Krygsman said.

90% Resume Operation

Low Output Plagues Industries in Greece

ATHENS, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Ninety per cent of Greece's pre-war industries now are in operation, but only a few of the 5,000 plants have reached pre-war production levels, says Reginald E. Gilmor, director of the industry division of the United States mission for aid to Greece.

THE RAYON production average today is 233 per cent of that of 1939. Aluminum and copper production have jumped to 150 and 129 per cent respectively. Glassware, sheet glass, drugs and pharmaceuticals are exceeding pre-war production with present rates of output 115, 105 and 120 per cent respectively. The cigarette industry is also up with output [illegible] per cent that of 1939.

Gilmor says that despite these few indications of high activity the majority of industries have been unable to revive pre-war standards because of war damage and occupation. Other problems holding up recovery include difficulty in obtaining spare parts, equipment, raw materials and import licences.

Mining production is lower than that of any other industry, although mining products are potentially the largest exports of the country. Gilmor attributes this to the fact that mining has undergone more damage due both to natural deterioration and destruction by military action. Guerilla activities now prevent many mines from being restored to operation.

EIGHTY PER CENT of the mines operated before the war need repairs. The output of the mining industry as of August of this year was only 14 per cent of the 1939 production.

Other important industries with production below the pre-war average include cotton, wool and silk textile manufactures. Cotton production today is 75 per cent of 1939, wool 80 and silk 82 per cent.

Metallurgical industries are operating with output at only 58 per cent; steel industry, 65; paper and printing, 53; tanning 45; woodworking, 28; lignites, 90; and building materials, about 63 per cent.

Among foodstuffs, flour milling is 6? per cent of 1939 production; alcohol 50; liquor, 85; seed oil [illegible] canned goods, 70 and sugar and starch, 63 per cent.

"NERVES"
She Called It

Losing interest—losing friends—she never went out any more—always too tired. "Nerves", she thought—but it was her kidneys—the filters of her blood—that needed attention. She used Dodd's Kidney Pills at once. The improved action of her kidneys helped to clear away blood impurities and excess acids. Fatigue, backache, headache, lack of energy disappeared. Dodd's Kidney Pills contain essential oils and medicinal ingredients that act directly upon the kidneys—and help restore their normal action. 144

Says Bubble Gum Makes Buck Teeth

PITTSBURG, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Americans of the future may have a "new look" but as a result of chewing bubble gum, it likely will include buck teeth, says Dr. Ernest F. Ristert, dentist of Philadelphia. Ristert declares chomping bubble gum not only will result in tooth malformation but also decay, on account of the sugar the gum contains. Other dentists joined in the indictment. Constant pressure of the tongue against teeth, in blowing bubbles, pushes the front teeth outward, they declare.

"Old Master" Fake Artist on Trial

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—(CP)—The New York Times said yesterday in an Amsterdam dispatch that Hans Van Meegeren, Dutch painter "who shocked the art world by foisting a series of false Vermeers, Pieter de Hoochs and other old masters on experts," had been placed on trial for selling works bearing spurious signatures of famous artists.

The dispatch said Van Meegeren pleaded guilty and sentence was expected in two weeks.

But it was not a simple case of forgery, the Times added, because "the defendant created the works after the style of the 17th-century masters without actually copying any of their canvases."

"The array of expert witnesses testified that the paintings were done by Van Meegeren thus clearing away any lingering doubts that he was guilty of a double-cross in claiming as his own works that might after all be authentic.

"There was speculation as to the future of the paintings in dispute [illegible] the world has ever known."

Big Reclamation Program Planned

PHOENIX, Ariz., Oct. 31.—(AP)—A seven-year reclamation construction program for the United States involving expenditure of $2,148,000,000 was proposed yesterday to the National Reclamation Association by Secretary of Interior Krug.

In a speech prepared for delivery before the association's annual convention, Krug said the projected development would bring 4,000,000 acres, embracing 40,000 farms under irrigation by the end of fiscal year 1954.

This would increase the total lands now irrigated with reclamation water to over 8,000,000 acres, he told delegates to the convention.

Along with the expanded irrigation, the new construction would add 2,250,000 kilowatts of power generating capacity by 1954, or enough power for 21 cities the size of Denver.

Eavesdropper Gets Suspended Sentence

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Oct. 31—(AP)—Karl P. Hartman, 30, of Hazardville, Conn., drew a three months' suspended sentence yesterday for eavesdropping by installing a dictograph in the bedroom of a young woman with whom he had been friendly and who married another man. Hartman was accused of rigging the dictograph in the couple's bedroom so he could listen to their conversation through the loud-speaker of his automobile upon their return from their honeymoon.

Warn Addressees Of Sweep Tickets

TORONTO, Oct. 30—(CP)—The Evening Telegram said today that persons known to have received receipts for books of tickets on the Irish [illegible] sweepstake have been warned by the postmaster general that should they persist in illegally using the Royal Mail for this purpose they will be placed on the mailing prohibited list.

Body Identified

COURTENAY, B.C., Oct. 31—(CP)—The body of a man found [illegible] North Battleford, Sask. An identification tag had been [illegible] police said there was no sign of violence. Identification was made by a brother, Joseph Edlin, of Vancouver.

Edlin is survived by his widow and family in North Battleford.

John Paul Jones was an admiral in the Russian navy after the Revolutionary War.

Reach for It

The three [illegible] in the back yard were nearly bare and I was raking the damp leaves under them in the watery sunlight of the afternoon when the Doc ambled down the path. He leaned against the trunk of the big tree and watched me toss the leaves into a pile.

"From the street out there you look like a man at peace with the world and his back yard," the Doc said. "No one would guess what a tortured mind lay behind that low forehead."

"Stop worrying about my mind," I said. "Fret-work is one of my hobbies."

"This is truly the age of discontent," the Doc said. "Almost everybody I [illegible] is a state of irritation or on the edge of some anxiety neurosis. If Diogenes were around today he'd spend his time looking for a serene man."

"A serene man," I suggested, "is a dull man."

"That certainly seems to be the feeling today," the Doc agreed, "and of course, it's nonsense." He inhaled a deep breath of the cool air. The afternoon smelled of Hallowe'en and football games. "Never was a time when people were so eager for peace of mind," the Doc said, "or when they put so many obstacles in their own way. Seems to me it's a world of worriers. A man who looks for happiness nowadays is apt to start his hunt on the couch of a psychoanalyst when all he has to do is reach out for it with his hands."

On Happiness

I put down the rake, accepted a cigarette and we lit up. A squirrel ran along a black branch overhead and chatted down some of his personal views on life. A seed pod made a [illegible] spiral out of the tree looking for a place that might use a new maple.

"A man who's contented these days is just kidding himself," I said. "It's an unsettled world. We [illegible] a stake in it. You can't simply look the other way."

"Certainly not," the Doc said thoughtfully. "I think a man should know what's going on. He should assay events in his own mind and find their historical perspective. If he's built that way he should participate actively. But that shouldn't put a perpetual cloud of gloom over his life. He shouldn't carry the atom bomb into his back yard."

"Then you think most of us are [illegible]" I asked.

"Too emotionally," the Doc corrected. "I'm good and tired of men who react to every day-to-day step in history by getting lines between the eyes [illegible]

Two City Homes Said Ransacked

Two city homes were broken into and ransacked on Thursday [illegible] the theft occurred between [illegible] and 10:45 p.m. All drawers in the house were ransacked. Entry was gained by using a pass key on the rear door.

The other break-in was at the home of [illegible] Gaumont, [illegible] 95 street. This break-in occurred between 7:30 and 8:30 p.m. while the house was empty. All doors had been locked but on returning Mr. Gaumont found the rear door wide open. Missing from the ransacked cupboards is a gold watch and chain and a pen knife. Several burned matches were found on the floor.

Schools To Close For Royal Wedding

Alberta schools will close [illegible] Thursday, Nov. 20 [illegible] the wedding day of Princess Elizabeth, it was announced Friday by Hon. R. Earl Ansley, minister of education.

He said that the decision to declare the day a school holiday had been reached at a cabinet meeting held in the legislative buildings Thursday.

Driver Is Trapped As Car Overturns

A man was trapped in his overturned car Thursday and had to break a back window to [illegible] free himself, police said. [illegible] by Elwin J. Riehl, 10712 84 avenue, collided with [illegible] Reginald [illegible] avenue at the intersection of [illegible] street and 111 avenue.

Riehl's vehicle was pushed sideways across the road, struck the curb and turned over. [illegible] on [illegible] and [illegible] of the vehicle by way of a back window. Both [illegible] were [illegible] injured.

Gasoline and Oil Prices Increased

The wholesale price of gasoline and other petroleum products in Alberta took an upward swing Friday to meet the increased costs of supplies to the Canadian markets.

Effective today the price of [illegible] distillates and kerosene are being advanced 7-10 cents, and cleaning fluid and diesel fuel oils are being advanced one cent and bunker oils one-half cent, according to an announcement by D. J. Avison, divisional manager of Imperial Oil Ltd.

Three factors that increase costs are:

1. An increase of 10 per cent in rail freight rates which became effective on Oct. 13 in the United States [illegible] are obtained. This affects areas where rail movements from the United States are involved.

2. An increase of 20 cents per barrel in crude oil prices in the United States. This became effective beginning Oct. 14 and has already been followed by price [illegible]

3. [illegible] unprecedented demand such as [illegible] finished products which are necessary in order to make maximum supplies available and longer freight hauls [illegible]

Mayor Tells Rotarians Of Civic Auditorium

There are in Edmonton more artists in music, drama and art, as compared to its population, than in any other city in North America and that is one important reason as to why this city must have a civic auditorium, according to Mayor Harry Ainlay who spoke to a Rotary Club luncheon in the Macdonald hotel Thursday.

THE MAYOR gave a brief account as to the proposed size of the auditorium and Tom Shandro, speaking as an Edmonton citizen, gave his opinion in regards to the seating capacity of the building.

Mayor Ainlay stated that the proposed seating capacity is from 2,300 to 3,000 and Mr. Shandro explained that if the citizens of Edmonton want to engage in more cultural work, they should witness major cultural groups from other parts of Canada and especially the United States. In that case, he said, if prominent cultural groups visit this city, "where will we put them?"

In replying to Mr. Shandro's remarks, Mayor Ainlay said that as the public and various organizations will use the civic centre, it is they who should decide on the seating capacity. He added that the auditorium could be expanded without hindering acoustics or moving the audience to far from the stage.

Contrary to most beliefs, Mayor Ainlay stated, the civic auditorium will not be a downtown arena or sports centre and is not intended to seat enormous crowds. The building is adapted for one purpose, he said and that is to accomodate local organizations such as the Philharmonic Orchestra and the Drama Club, at present very short of space.

He contended that construction on the centre will not commence in 1948 because it will take at least a year to draw up blue prints and City Council must know the cost of construction.

The Civic Centre, the Mayor said, will be twice the size of the Trocadero ballroom, formerly the Empire Theatre.

The centre, he stated, is an issue of great importance and on Wednesday, during civic election, citizens will have a chance to vote on a plebesite as to whether Edmonton needs a civic centre. He added that the people of Edmonton "have been talking civic centre for 38 years."

City Commissioner D. B. Menzies introduced the two speakers.

William E. Hamilton was introduced as a new member. Mr. Hamilton is sales manager with Scott Fruit Co. Ltd.

Funsters Beware

PROVIDENCE, R.I., Oct. 31 —(AP)— Police have a trick of their own ready for Hallowe'en. Acting Chief Charles A. Higgins said yesterday that handles of fire alarm boxes will be treated with a chemical powder which will cause the hand that touches it to glow phosphorescently for several hours. Any celebrator found with a glowing hand near the scene of a false fire alarm will have [illegible] of a $100 fine or 30 days in jail, the chief said.

Synod Concludes Three Day Meet

RED DEER, Alta., Oct. 31.—The mission work of the Synod of Alberta has progressed during the year but the need for ordained men is still critical, reported the Rev. M. A. Mark, Rocky Mountain House, the Synod's mission convener in giving his report to the annual meeting of the Presbyterian Synod here on Thursday.

He urged the establishment of a Synod educational fund to provide financial assistance for Alberta boys contemplating the ministry of the Presbyterian Church. The mission committee was instructed to develop a scheme for such a fund and present it to the 1948 synod.

CONSIDERATION was given to the churches' needs in the Peace River block in Mr. Mark's report. The Rev. J. A. Monro, Saskatoon, superintendent of western missions, was asked to recruit volunteers in the Peace River area to train for the ministry and return to this field, meanwhile he was authorized to appeal for two graduates to undertake an effective ministry there immediately.

The mission convener reported that a bequest of $1,000 from the estate of Annie G. Foote was held as a loaning fund to aid Alberta Missions.

The Rev. J. A. Monro announced the appointment of the Rev. Mark, Rocky Mountain House and the Rev. Dillwyn T. Evans, Winnipeg, as missionaries at large to work in conjuction with him in supervising missions in western Canada.

Dr. Kalman Toth who had been in charge of work at Calvin Hungarian Church, Calgary, and who returned this year from Hungary, spoke on church conditions in that country.

THE SYNOD disapproved a suggestion from the General Assembly that the Synods of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba be amalgamated and that the number of Presbyteries be reduced.

Committee conveners for the year were named as follows: Missions, the Rev. J. Herbison, Edmonton; Budget, The Rev. D. I. Crocker, Eckville; Sunday Schools and Young Peoples Societies, the Rev. William Lawson, Lousana; Evangelism and Social Action, the Rev. J. MacBeath Miller, Edmonton; Pensions, the Rev. R. J. Burton, Calgary; Colleges, the Rev. D. Flint, Bassano; Statistics, the Rev. J. McGillivray, Three Hills; Rural Needs, the Rev. C. E. Bray, Willowdale.

The 1948 Synod meeting will be at St. Andrews Church, Calgary, home church of the Rev. R. J. Burton. It will be held in October and will be four days instead of three.

Knox Presbyterian Church, Red Deer, was the scene of the synod sessions which closed on Thursday.

Probe Infiltration

City Lawyer

JOSEPH H. SHOCTOR

U. of A. Graduate Admitted to Bar

Joseph H. Shoctor, Edmonton born graduate of city schools and the University of Alberta, was admitted to the Alberta bar by Mr. Justice Hugh John Macdonald in a colorful ceremony attended by the general public and members of the Edmonton Bar Association.

He was presented for admission by W. E. Simpson, KC., to whom he had been articled for the past 12 months. In presenting Mr. Shoctor, Mr. Simpson referred to the new barrister's outstanding career at the University.

Mr. Shoctor was born on August 18, 1922, and attended Alex Taylor, McCauley and Victoria high schools. He graduated in arts at the University of Alberta in 1945, and received his Bachelor of Law degree in 1946.

While at the University he was president of the Literary Association, a member of the Students' Council, and secretary of the Law Club.

In 1945 he was a member of the University's debating team that brought the McCoun cup to Alberta after a lapse of 11 years. He also was a member of Golden Bears western inter-collegiate football champions in 1945.

He was keenly interested in dramatics and was director of the "Varsity Show" and "Club 400", and played leading roles in Varsity spring plays.

Since his graduation he has taken an active part in community theatre work, is a member of the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce, and is president of Canadian Productions Ltd.

It is his intention to carry on the practice of law in Edmonton.

Five Ministers Absent from Desks

Five of Alberta's cabinet ministers were absent from their desks Friday on government and constituency business. Hon. C. E. Gerhart, minister of municipal affairs, was in Lethbridge attending sessions of the municipal district convention. Hon. R. Earl Ansley, minister of education, was in Calgary on departmental business. Hon. Dr. W. W. Cross, minister of health and welfare was in his constituency of Hand Hills. Hon. W. A. Fallow, minister of public works, had not returned from an inspection trip in the north of the province, while Hon. N. E. Tanner, minister of lands and mines, was [illegible] at Cardston.

McNaughton Tells Story

No Known Defence Against Atomic War

AJAX, Ont., Oct. 31. — (CP) — Although there is no known physical defence against atomic war, the world is "a long way from the push-button type of warfare described in the sensational magazines," Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton said last night.

CANADIAN representative on the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission, he pulled no punches as he described the awful havoc of a future atomic war in an address prepared for delivery to the University of Toronto Engineering Society at this post-war campus community 20 miles east of Toronto.

However, he said, there was no need to "fear its outbreak on any significant scale for a while yet," and expressed optimism that international control of the atom bomb still could be found through the UN, despite the reluctance of Russia to agree with other nations on its control.

Bombs, each several thousand times more powerful, weight for weight, than ordinary high explosive bombs, could be sent against other countries in any of these ways:

1. By guided missile or crewless aircraft. The former at present had a range of only a few hundred miles, limiting the immediate possibility of "push-button" war, but this range might well be increased within a few decades to several thousands of miles. Crewless aircraft because of their ability to fly at great heights at high speed, would be almost immune to known methods of enemy interference.

2. By manned aircraft of the larger bomber class. These posed a difficult defence problem because it would take a long time for a defence rocket or fighter plane to rise to 40,000 feet.

3. By submarines and other carriers, or saboteurs who would place bombs with delay fuses in position by stealth.

The General, co-chairman of the Canadian-United States Joint Defence Board saw only two ways for the "preservation of the world."

1. To develop an international agreement "under which we may hope that all nations may come to have confidence that atomic energy will be used for peaceful purposes only."

2. That the United States, the only country now possessing the atomic bomb in quantity, be encouraged to retain for as long as possible its "paramount ascendancy" in this filed.

The latter view he found "fully justified in the short-term view by considerations of expediency and practicability," while the former he termed "the most attractive."

Lions Club Hears Of "Sunset" Homes

Plans were discussed as to the type of building will be erected at the Sunset cottage, at the weekly meeting of the Lions Club in the Macdonald hotel Thursday noon.

As the meeting did not allow ample time for complete discussion, it was decided to hold an evening meeting at which time a complete discussion of the project will be held.

John Farina, new director of [illegible] was guest speaker at the luncheon. He told the group of his experiences as a social worker with the senior citizens.

Program next week will include showing of moving pictures by Phil Danis, acting director of promotions and advertising, provincial government of Alberta.

Christian Group Expanding Work

Great expansion of the work carried on in Canada by The Christian Commercial Business men's Association, (The Gideons), is now in progress, A. J. Burnham, Toronto, general secretary of the association, said here Friday.

The association is now proceeding with distribution of 100,000 New Testaments to school children throughout the Dominion in Grade 6. The books will become the personal property of the children. When this grade is taken care of distribution to other grades will begin, Mr. Burnham said.

The association has for years been furnishing bibles free of charge to hotels, hospitals, ships, railway bunk houses and penal institutions. The work is supported by voluntary contributions only.

Major centres are being covered this year and it is planned to go to the rural communities next year, Mr. Burnham said.

A provincial conference of the association is planned for next year in Edmonton. Arthur McPhaill is president of the Alberta division of the association with Orvis Kennedy vice-president.

Several new centres, or camps, are planned for Alberta and Mr. Burnham has been visiting several large Alberta towns in recent days.

Lauds Enterprise Teaching System

D. T. Oviatt, supervisor of the Teachers' Service Bureau, speaking at a meeting of the King Edward Home and School Association recently, stated that the enterprise system launched 10 years ago was a decisive step forward in the improving of the methods of teaching.

Mr. Oviatt was speaking on "The Revised Curriculum."

The inexperienced and incapable teacher especially in the rural areas, had misinterpreted the course with the result that skilled subjects such as reading, phonetics, arithmetic, spelling and grammar, had in some instances suffered, he explained.

Too much emphasis had been placed on the physical activity program, he stated, when the stressing of the development of an intellectual program was really intended.

The speaker explained that the new outline will give more definite direction to teachers but still give the teacher a broader vision.

Following the address, musical numbers were presented by Margaret Turner, Don Gill and Robert Carter.

The meeting was under the chairmanship of President Jack Bolton.

Spurns Sick Call And Patient Dies

VANCOUVER, Oct. 31.—(CP)— The fourth instance in three weeks in which a seriously ill patient died after the doctor allegedly spurned his call for aid was entered in the police books yesterday.

Police said that a doctor, called at 12:25 a.m. PST yesterday, gave a flat refusal to treat 72-year-old Fred Broughton after the man collapsed in his bathroom. The doctor had been treating Broughton for a heart condition.

One Vancouver doctor suggested that persons requiring medical attention at odd hours of the night should consult the Doctors' Medical Service.

"Many of the older doctors in the city refuse to take calls at night because they find they cannot work night and day," he explained.

Renew Efforts End Tram Strike

VANCOUVER, Oct. 31.—(CP) — The mayors of British Columbia's three major cities today prepared to renew their efforts to find a formula that would end the 12-day-old crippling strike of 2,800 street railwaymen following a failure in negotiations yesterday.

At the same time A. E. Grauer, president of the strike-bound B.C. Electric Railway Company, asserted that refusal of the company to apply for increased street car fares to cover demands of the union was the cause of the strike.

He said that the company intended to ask for increased fares, but did not disclose if the proposed increase would cover the entire cost of the street railwaymen's union demand for a 20-cent hourly [illegible] and the 40 hour week. The company has estimated that granting the demands would raise B.C.E.R.'s annual operating loss from $[illegible] to $[illegible].

A conference of union and company officials called by the mayors of Vancouver, Victoria and New Westminster yesterday, broke up without making any appreciable progress after day-long sessions.

The chief magistrates said they were "thoroughly disappointed" at their failure and worried over the outlook. Mayor Percy George of Victoria said "we will continue our efforts."

Acting Mayor Charles Jones of Vancouver said the mayors felt they had a "continuing responsibility" and that they had undertaken to continue collaboration not withstanding the fact they had failed so

Trade Deficit

PARIS, Oct. 31.—(Reuters)—In the first nine months of 1947 France had a 635,000,000,000-francs ($520,000,000) trading deficit with the United States, customs authorities revealed yesterday. She had a favorable trade balance with Britain during the same period of 250,000,000,000 francs ($19,600,000) with imports from Britain valued at 7,900,000,000 francs and exports at 104,026,000,000.

Bank clearings through the Edmonton Clearing House for the week ended Oct. 30 totalled $13,745,149.14 as compared to $12,214,420.40 for the corresponding week of last year.

Constable Thwarts Break-In Attempt

Constable George Watson thwarted the efforts of a man attempting to break into the James Scoular Jewelry Store, 10119 102 street, about 4:35 a.m. Friday. In the dense fog the man ran away and escaped from the constable.

Constable Watson said he was patrolling his beat and was talking to a man at Jasper and 102 street when his attention was drawn to a man standing very close to the door of the jewelry shop. When he went to investigate the man ran away and the constable was unable to catch him or locate him.

A later investigation revealed that a glass cutter had been used to cut a hole through the glass doorway just above the door lock.

Buy Lamb, Swine For City Hospital

Alberta Provincial Sheep and Swine Breeders Association officials on Thursday stepped into the sale ring at the annual fall show sponsored by the Edmonton Exhibition Association, and purchased lamb and swine carcasses for presentation to the Royal Alexandra hospital. This is the first time in history that the associations have made individual purchases at the show, and the first time donations have been made by them to a city hospital.

Swift Canadian Company Ltd., was a heavy purchase in the lamb and swine carcass division of the annual sales, buying all offerings in the swine division with the exception of the reserve championship carcass which went to the Royal Alexandra hospital, the gift of the Alberta Provincial Swine Breeders' Assocaition.

The Swift Company purchased the champion lamb carcass for 65 cents a pound, with L. M. Rye, North Edmonton, and director of the Exhibition Association, taking the reserve carcass at 50 cents.

The fourth prize carcass in the lamb class was purchased by Val Kelly, Pickardville, and many of the highly placed carcasses were purchased by Safeways Ltd.

A total of $7,409.50 was realized from the sale of purebred Yorkshire and Tamworth sows and boars, the 122 Yorkshire sows offered netting $6,275 for an average of $51.43, and the two Tamworth sows netting $80. The 102 Yorkshire sows offered brought an average of $50.88 with the total realized $5,190. Twelve Tamworth boars were sold for $657.50 for an average of $54.79.

Say Wolves Threaten Game

Unless effective steps are taken to end the depredations of timber wolves and the wanton slaughter of game animals there will be scarcely any game left in the Rocky Mountain region west of Grande Prairie five years from now, a party of three hunters from the United States predicted here Friday.

The hunters, all officials of a South Bend, Ind., tool and die manufacturing firm, arrived in Edmonton Thursday night by plane after a 30-day hunt in the area west of Hythe in British Columbia. They are W. A. Reitz, R. W. Schleman and V. Rutherford.

The hunters flew from the U.S.A. to Grande Prairie in their own Beechcraft plane piloted by Glen Moon and J. L. Emmons, also of South Bend.

Goat, caribou, three grizzly bears and two black timber wolves were included in a successful bag.

They also shot one deer for camp meat, permitted under game regulations.

Hunting in the vicinity of Kinuso Falls, a 200-foot waterfall of great beauty, the hunters declared there are many signs of the havoc caused by black timber wolves, which abound throughout the region.

There are also indications of much game being slaughtered and not brought out of the country, the visiting hunters said.

Mr. Schleman has hunted in Alberta and B.C. for six or seven seasons.

The Americans had 40 pack horses and seven camp attendants and guides on the trip.

The men also expressed the opinion there are "too many unqualified outfitters in the area," although they had a good outfit themselves.

Why Grow Old?

Take out stray hair with the tweezers, as Actress Janis Carter is doing above. Always shape the brows from underneath.

By Josephine Lowman
(The Friday Question Box)

Q. "I am 16 years old but have matured very little. All of my friends of the same age are fully matured. I wonder what is retarding my growth?" Would you advise female sex hormones?

A. No. Do not use any such thing without your doctor's advice. Young people vary greatly so far as the age at which they mature. You may have no problem a year or so from now. In the meantime, if you wish to take bust developing exercises you might improve the situation. Diet can only have an effect in that proper nutrition nourishes the body as a whole, including the glandular system. Be sure you eat a vitamin rich diet.

Q. "Since you have helped so many I would appreciate it if you would print my measurements in the paper so I can see what you say about them. I seem to be out of proportion somehow. I am 25 years old, 5 feet 7 inches [illegible] and weigh 14[illegible] pounds. My bust [illegible] 3[illegible] inches, waist [illegible] and hips 39 inches. Also, please tell me if I am over-weight."

A. You are not overwieight for you height, especially if you have a large frame. I shouldn't think you ought to lose more than 6 to 8 pounds under any conditions. Your waist and hips are a little large for your bust measurement. Take an inch or a little more off with exercise.

Q. "Will alcohol dry up pimples? Does it injure the skin?"

A. [illegible] is a good [illegible] tant and is also drying. I think it would be [illegible] if applied all over the face. However, it is all right to dab it on a pimple. You will find Calamine lotion effective for more general use.

Q. "Should women wear the same colors in lipstick as they grow older that they have used all along?"

A. The skin tones change as one grows older. Rouge and lipstick should be selected for your skin at every age. Many women make the mistake of using colors which are too [illegible] when another shade would be much more flattering.

Q. "What can be done with an unruly, wild looking eyebrow?"

A. Tweeze out the strays which you find out of line with the general brow contour. Then use [illegible] vaseline to keep the hairs in line.

Mother's Best Gift To Baby Is Health

The best gift a mother gives her baby is health, clear eyes, sound limbs, strong lungs . . . .and according to doctors, there are four ways to protect baby against most diseases.

ONE: Feed the baby enough clean nutricious digestible food.

TWO: Keep the baby away from sick people.

THREE: Give the baby special protection (inoculation) against the most contagious diseases, as recommended by your doctor.

FOUR: Pay special attention to your own health, as the mother, before birth and during the nursing period.

A cold may be a serious threat to the delicate baby, so every precaution should be taken to protect him. When the mother has a cold she should wear a gauze mask or tie a handkerchief over her nose and mouth when near the baby and wash her hands more carefully than usual.

Loving friends and relatives with colds should be kept away from the baby's room and preferably out of the house entirely.

Whether your baby is yet to be born or already has the house in a turmoil, our Reader Service booklet No. 203 is a valuable guide to baby care from birth through the problems of teething, eating, exercise, illness and accidents.

Send 30c (coin) for "Baby Care" to The Edmonton Bulletin, Reader Service, 60 Front St. W., Toronto. Print name, address with zone, booklet title and No. 203.

Your Baby and Mine

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

George Edward, 10 months old, son of Mrs. G. Sinclair of 8810 93 street.

Any mother can tell when the baby looks ill. There will be unusual pallor and languor, or there will be a high color and disinterest in food and any activities. It is possible for a baby or child to run a higher temperature with relatively mild ailments, but usually when there is temperature it is well to consider the services of a doctor.

A mother cannot determine the degree of fever with any accuracy without a clinical thermometer. One of these should be in every medicine cabinet and well back on the shelf where it can't roll out and be broken.

There is no special difficulty in [illegible]

[illegible] and four-fifths there is an arrow. This marks the normal temperature by mouth. Normal temperature may be considered about one degree higher by rectum. A rectal thermometer is a good one to use for small children for they tend to bite down on the thermometer when it is in the mouth [illegible]

Before taking the temperature, shake the mercury down with a quick flip of the wrist, until it is below the mark of normal. Then oil the point well so it will slip into the rectum with no discomfort to the child. Hold it there for at least two to three minutes [illegible] in your fingers until your eye finds the end of the mercury column.

[illegible] nearest the 100 mark. Then count the [illegible] you reach the point at which the mercury is resting. That will be the child's degree of fever.

You can leave the thermometer as it is and show the doctor or you may shake it down to below normal [illegible] put it away. Mark the degree of fever and the hour it was taken on paper so your memory won't trick you.

Taking the child's temperature can save you worry and the doctor [illegible] or higher it is seldom serious enough for medical attention.

Our leaflet No. 18, "Disease Preventatives," [illegible] It may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope [illegible] request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of The Edmonton Bulletin.

Princess Elizabeth Launches New Luxury Liner, Caronia

CLYDEBANK, Scotland, Oct. 31.—(BUP)—Princess Elizabeth and Lt. Philip Mountbatten made their first official public appearance together today when she launched Britain's newest luxury liner, the 34,000 ton Caronia, with her future husband standing by her side.

Thousands of workers and visitors jammed the great John Brown yards to see them together. Elizabeth, carefully schooled in the duties and poise of royalty, carried the major part of the day's activities.

But in her brief speech, sending the vessel down the ways, she referred proudly to the tall, blond naval lieutenant standing by her.

"I am happy," she said, "that on this, my third visit, my future husband is by my side.

"He has served with the Royal Navy in war and in peace so that I need not dwell on his love of the sea and of all that belongs to it. Naturally he shares my interest in your achievements, pride in the fame which our designers and builders have won for us through the ages."

At another point she referred to him again: "Lt. Mountbatten and I are here at a time when in spite of all our achievements Great Britain is confronted with difficulties and dangers of all kinds that we have never had to face before."

The vessel she launched is Britain's entry for the luxury ribbon on the high seas, and was designed for the dollar-catching traffic. She will carry 1,000 passengers.

Colored plastic sheeting has been used for interior decoration and there is much flourescent lighting in her. Her hull has not been painted its final color yet, but it will be either white or a light, greeny blue.

Because of the Royal Family's non-political position, the remarks its members make in public are often carefully-worded platitudes. But the Princess, who writes most of her own speeches, spoke a little more forcefully than usual, perhaps in honor of the occasion.

She referred to the economic crisis as a battle similar to the blitz when England stood alone and said the loyalty and contributions of The Empire in its present difficulties would never be forgotten. Then she added:

"We have friends too in many other parts of the world and we know that we can count on whatever help they can give. But it cannot be said too often that a country, like an individual, must work out its own salvation at home."

Short Session Is Prorogued

TORONTO, Oct. 31.—(CP)—The third session of the 22nd legislature prorogued at 8:55 p.m. last night after sitting since Oct. 22 in resumption of the session started last spring.

Lieutenant-Governor Ray Lawson gave royal assent to 28 government bills and one non-government measure, product of the short session.

It saw passage of amendments to the Milk Control Act to permit negotiated changes in the price of milk, amendments to the Power Commission and Public Utilities Act to enable power rationing, and introduction of a new measure to regulate trading in securities.

Mrs. Truman Wants Quietness of Home

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Mrs. Truman said Wednesday she doesn't want to be president of the United States, she doesn't want her daughter Margaret to marry a president, and if she had a son she wouldn't raise him to be a president.

She also disclosed to newspaper women that she wants most of all to return to the comparative quiet of Independence, Mo., her home, after the president leaves the White House.

Replying to a question as to whether she would accompany Truman in any campaign travels in connection with next year's presidential election, Mrs. Truman said: "I will answer this one late in June, 1948." The Democratic National Convention is expected to be held in July.

She gave good health and a "well-developed sense of humor" as the greatest assets for a president's wife.

CCF Government Has Big Program

REGINA, Oct. 31.—(CP)—The Regina Leader-Post today quoted Premier Douglas of Saskatchewan as telling a party nominating convention at Rosetown last night that the CCF Government planned to enter the pottery and paper industry.

The Government would soon be making pottery and planned to utilize sodium sulphate deposits for the manufacture of paper.

Instead of shipping clay to Alberta to be made into bricks and tile his Government was making pottery.

The Government had started a plant for processing sodium sulphate which had previously been shipped to eastern Canada to be used in the manufacture of paper. "As soon as we can get a pulp mill we shall see that they get together in Saskatchewan."

Saskatchewan has large deposits of both clay and sodium sulphate. Clay marketing was recently taken over by Saskatchewan minerals, a Crown corporation which operates a brick plant at Estevan, and all clay—most of which is shipped to Alberta ceramics plant — now is marketed through the Government agency.

Legion Auxiliary Appeals for Clothes

Montgomery branch No. 24 of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Canadian Legion, BESL, at their general meeting Tuesday, heard an appeal for clothing for the children at the Ex-servicemen's Home for Children and formed a committee, convened by Mrs. L. J. Moore, to collect and make over clothing for children from the age of four years to 14 years.

Anyone wishing to donate clothing for the veteran's children are asked to telephone Mrs. Moore at 73299.

Life on Sable Island One Long Battle With Elements

SABLE ISLAND, N.S., Oct. 31.—(CP)—A continuous battle against the elements is the way Donald Johnson, superintendent of Sable Island, describes life on this bleak spit of land 140 miles east of Halifax.

"You have to be a little bit of everything," he says. "A carpenter one minute and a substitute doctor the next."

Twenty-two persons live on the 2½-mile long island that lies directly athwart the 60th meridian of longitude. Fifteen of them are Department of Transport employes who operate a lifeboat service, carry out patrols and man lighthouses that warn shipping to beware "the graveyard of the Atlantic." Hundreds of ships have been caught on the island's treacherous shoals.

Three of the islanders are women, among them Johnson's wife and Mrs. Stewart Maxner who came to the island as a bride two years ago. Mrs. Maxner admits that with no bakery shop or grocery store around the corner she learned to cook in a hurry.

The transportation system includes one horse-drawn wagon, equipped with truck tires to keep it from sinking in the sand, and wild ponies—if they can be caught and broken.

The Department of Transport supply ship calls here four times a year but RCAF planes land more or less frequently on the island's shallow lake. Food is transported in the supply ship and the planes, as a rule, carry only mail and gifts from relatives.

The wind blows here almost continuously. It whips the sand in great banks around the houses and has to be shovelled away like snow. Sand blasting on windows "frosts" them in time and paint disappears in practically no time at all.

Tells Treatment Dread Disease

VICTORIA, Oct. 31.—(CP)—Of all poliomyelitis cases from the lower British Columbia mainland in last summer's epidemic treated at Vancouver General Hospital, only 20 per cent were discharged with "considerable" muscle impairment. Miss Helen King assistant director of nursing at that institution, told the B.C. Hospitals' Association Convention here yesterday.

Hot packs every five minutes, hot baths and exercises were the main points of treatment, she said. Of 198 cases admitted to the hospital, 10 per cent were discharged cured, 70 per cent had slight impairment of muscles and 20 per cent had "considerable" muscle impairment.

All Want To Give Presents

By FRANK BACKHOUSE

LONDON, Oct. 22.—(CP)—Elderly people, young folk, industries, societies and even whole countries are helping swell the volume of wedding presents for Princess Elizabeth and Lt. Philip Mountbatten.

In a little house backing on to the beach at Whitstable, Kent, 70-year-old Mrs. J. Townsend is making a series of doily sets in pastel shades with each one bearing a small red rose.

Norwich goldsmiths are working on a silver candy box designed on the lines of an 18th-century spice box. Citizens of the cathedral town greatly over-subscribed their gift.

In industrial Lancashire a fund has been launched to provide a gift of period furniture to furnish a "Lancaster" room in the royal apartment.

Girls working in Britain's laundries are to raise £1,000 ($4,000) by each contributing sixpence. The present, at Elizabeth's request, will be a bed for the Queen Elizabeth Hospital for Children in Hackney, London's east end borough. The hospital is chosen because it was here that the Princess had her first public engagement.

All girls named Elizabeth, Mary and Alexandria living in the borough of Twickenham have been asked by Mayor J. B. Craig to subscribe to the Royal Wedding Fund and the Girl Guides Movement in the United Kingdom has started a "Penny Fund."

The post office has rejected a plan for a special commemoration stamp on the grounds that there is not sufficient time to cast one.

Women's Canteen Outsped 8th Army

EDINBURGH, — (CP) —At least one "Women's Guild" mobile canteen got ahead of the 8th Army in Italy, says a report of the Church of Scotland.

The canteen, which had been supplied by the Women's Guild, "was so well up with the advance army that on one occasion toward dusk it actually passed through our lines and went on—for a joke—towards the German position," said the report.

"Fortunately it did not go too far, and in the morning our troops were somewhat astonished to find the 'Women's Guild' sign ahead of them as they rolled past."

Distinguished Publisher Dies

MANITOU, Man., Oct. 31.—(CP)—William J. Rowe, 76, publisher of the Manitou Western Canadian, a barrister and a former clergyman, died yesterday. He was a former president of the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association and also of the Manitoba Division of the Association.

Born at Consecon, Ont., near Trenton, Mr. Rowe taught school at Ottawa before coming west in the 1880's where he taught at Brandon and at Prince Albert, Sask. He was principal of the school at Rat Portage, now Kenora, Ont., in 1890.

Turning to the ministry, he graduated in 1902 from St. John's College, Winnipeg, and became rector of the Church of England parish at Manitou.

He retired from the ministry in 1907, joined a law office and purchased the Manitou Western Canadian. He studied while publishing and in 1912 was called to the Manitoba Bar.

Masked Bandits Take Big Payroll

BOSTON, Oct. 31.—AP—Five masked bandits held up a factory office yesterday and took a $110,000 payroll.

The men, two of them armed with sawed-off shotguns walked into the offices of Westinghouse Electric Corporation in Hyde Park only 15 minutes after an armored truck delivered the money in small bills.

When some office workers indicated they thought it a prank, one of the robbers shouted menacingly: "This is no Hallowe'en party."

DISTRICT NEWS IN BRIEF

Peace River to Get Water, Sewer System

PEACE RIVER, Oct. 31. — Taxpayers of the town of Peace River voted almost unanimously in favor of a bylaw to give this northern Alberta town a modern waterworks and sewer system, it was reported yesterday when the final count of votes had been taken.

Any questions as to whether the vote on the proposed system would be unfavorable went by the boards with the first count.

Plans for the sale of debentures will be proceeded with immediately with a view to preparing the sewerage outlet into the river during the winter months. Tenders will also be called for immediately and the contractor will be able to proceed with the project early in the spring.

The fact that the bylaws committee required a two-thirds majority was cause of much concern preceeding the day of voting. Only proprietory electors were elegible to vote, the final outcome being 210 for and only five against.

No Selfish Interest

Canada's Delegations To U.N. to Give Aid

OTTAWA, Oct. 31.—(CP)—Canada sent delegations to the United Nations not to push herself forward or "throw our weight around" but to do her part in making the UN effective and to help it, by all available means, to produce good, effective and useful work, Justice Minister Ilsley said last night.

IN AN ADDRESS prepared for delivery over a national network of the CBC on free time allotted for political broadcasts, the Justice Minister reviewed Canada's work at the UN and her attitude on the international stage.

"If we can lend our assistance to breaking deadlocks, or effecting compromises which do not sacrifice essential principles, if we can give expression to that which we strongly feel needs expression, if we can do any of these things, we do it, striving in this way to contribute to the success of the organization," he said.

"We hope in time to build up a tradition at these international gatherings which will take its place among our most honorable Canadian traditions and strengthen our pride, the right kind of pride, in the country to which we belong."

SPEAKING of recent UN developments, he referred to the Soviet resolution to make "war-mongering" a criminal offence and the Canadian - inspired "peace-mongring" resolution which replaced it and gained a unanimous vote from the general assembly.

The Soviet had argued it was just as criminal to incite to war as to murder and that those Americans and others who "make speeches advocating the dropping of atomic bombs on Moscow" are inciters to the worst kind of crime.

Mr. Ilsley said there was something to be said on both sides of the controversy. There had been "here and there, some reckless and, to my mind, highly censurable statements made about the desability of a preventative war against Russia and so forth.

"At the same time it was the feeling of the Canadian delegation that even such statements should not be made the basis of criminal charges but that they should be counteracted, their effect reduced, by positive propaganda for peace of an intelligent and enlightened sort."

THIS VIEW was contained in the general resolution sponsored by Canada, France and Australia which the UN including Russia and the Slavic Bloc, accepted unanimously.

mistic with every radio broadcast, a little more stooped over with every headline. I'm tired of people who just stand around wringing their hands."

"Who knows?" I said, "maybe it's a good sign. Shows that at least people are interested in something besides themselves."

"Not a bit of it," the Doc said. "You might as well say that people were thinking citizens because they went into a panic when Orson Welles broadcast the arrival of the men from Mars. No, Junior, it's no contribution to the world simply to be miserable about it."

"Then you suggest we should ration our misery?" Hide the gloom with the gay smile?"

"No," the Doc said. "I suggest you find happiness in the real things you've got. Don't let any imagined fear stand in your way. It takes courage to find peace of mind. It always did. We can use some of that kind of courage today."

The Unknowing

The Doc went on into the house to say hello to my wife and I put some newspapers under the damp pile of leaves and touched a match to them. When he came back up the path the yellow mound of leaves was giving off a thick blue column of autumn smoke.

"I've been thinking about it," I said. "Maybe ignorance is bliss after all."

"I know you're wrong," the Doc said, smiling at the detours my mind had taken, "but sometimes I think that way myself. Certainly it's bliss for people who don't know how to handle knowledge."

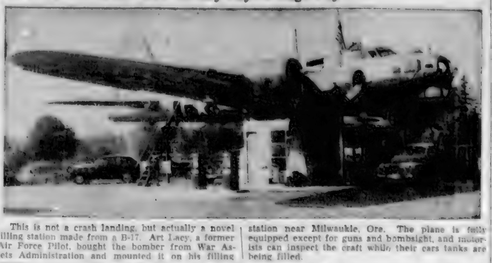
"The only truly, constantly happy person I know is a woman who never reads the papers," I ventured. "She lives for her family and her small pleasures. I don't think she's yet heard about the United Nations. Is that the way to that serenity that you admire?"

"I'm afraid not," the Doc said. "The only true happiness is in struggle, in trying to better yourself in searching for truth. Anything else is just bovine happiness, there's no easy way to contentment and no final realization of it. You've got to keep striving and enquiring and working."

"Now you're right back to the worriers," I said. "You haven't settled anything."

The Doc let go one of his thousand-watt grins and began moving up the path. "I wish you'd stop trying to settle things," he said back over his shoulder.

Retired Bomber Goes From Skyway to Highway



This is not a crash landing, but actually a novel filling station made from a B-17. Art Lacy, a former Air Force Pilot, bought the bomber from War Assets Administration and mounted it on his filling station near Milwaukie, Ore. The plane is fully equipped except for guns and bombsight, and motorists can inspect the craft while their cars tanks are being filled.

Wierd Sect Strife

Lunches, Eerie Songs Feature Doukh Probe

By Bruce Levett

SOUTH SLOCAN, B.C., Oct. 31.—(CP)—Each day, more than 400 Doukhobors, both Sons of Freedom and members of the Union of Spiritual Communities of Christ, travel over rutted West Kootenay roads to a tiny, rain-stained hall overlooking a turbulent rapids.

THEY COME TO attend hearings of the Royal Commission trying to find a solution to the strange rift which split the sect early in the century, causing widespread bloodshed and strife, and they bring with them two things—their lunches and their songs.

Each day, they sit together, listen together and eat together but never sing together, their eyes fixed on these persons who invaded their tiny [illegible] to ask "why" to questions they themselves have been unable to answer for almost half a century.

The lunches are munched ceaselessly throughout the hearings and their songs are rendered whenever there is a break in the proceedings.

One voice—usually a woman's—begins a slow chant somewhere within the crowd. Several more voices join in, in perfect four part harmony more suited to a concert stage than the cheap, unpainted three-ply walls of the community hall.

Soon the entire crowd sings, sometimes a roaring, victorious melody, sometimes a plaintive peasant song full of pathos and the simple philosophy of the singers.

BUT ONLY ONE faction sings at a time. When one group is singing, the other sits in solemn silence, staring straight ahead or eating the inexhaustible lunches.

The Sons of Freedom and the Union of Spiritual Communities of Christ sing the same songs, but have never sung together, since each group is firmly convinced that the other has wandered from the original doukhobor teachings.

The only accompaniment to the ballads of ancient Russia is the thunder of water through the sluice-gates of the West Kootenay Power and Light Company dam harnessing the river below, or the full-throated roar of a freight as it charges through the nearby station.

DOUKHOBOR BELIEFS state that music should come only from the throat of man "as God intended it should."

The words to the sings are unintelligible to anyone outside the sect. Even Russian-speaking non-Doukhobors are unable to understand the lyrics which sometimes gallop along running whole phrases together, only to slow to a solemn, drawn-out chant.

This was the method devised in their homeland, before they became a divided camp, when they were united in their efforts to keep hidden the words of their songs from Cossacks hunting them for failure to take part in army expansion.

Russian Subs, North Pacific

HONOLULU, Oct. 31.—(AP)—A navy magazine said yesterday Russia is operating a "considerable number" of submarines in the North Pacific and named Admiral Louis Denfeld as its authority, but navy intelligence said it has no information on such operations.

trump, as he has a count of 24. North, with no count, correctly passes.

You can see that declarer has a terrific job, as he has to win all the tricks in his hand. He must try to get the opponents to play the hand for him. Therefore when he wins the first trick with the queen of spades, the correct play is to cash the ace of spades and lead the three, hoping to force the opponents to lead into another tenace.

However, East wins the third trick with the king of spades, and leads the jack of diamonds. This marks West with the king because good players are not anxious to lead away from a king, especially through a no trump bidder. When declarer puts on the deuce and lets the jack hold the trick, East continues with the ten of diamonds. Now the correct play for declarer is to go right up with the ace and lead a small diamond, which West is forced to win with the king.

After cashing his high spade on which declarer discards the four of hearts, West leads the jack of hearts. Declarer wins with the queen and cashes the queen of diamonds.

Hoping for an end-play South now leads the eight of clubs. But East wins the trick with the ten and comes back with a heart which declarer wins with the ace. The ace of clubs is led and the king falls, establishing the queen.

Thus by refusing to quit declarer made his two no trump contract.

U.S. Officials Named in Trial

BUCHAREST, Oct. 31—(AP)—Ion Mihalache, vice-president of Dr. Juliu Maniu's Romanian Peasant Party, testified before a military [illegible] he was advised last April by Dean Acheson, United States Under-Secretary of State, that it was not an opportune time for the party take direct action against the Romanian Government.

Maniu, Mihalache and 17 alleged co-conspirators accused of attempting to overthrow the Communist-led Government went on trial Wednesday. Life imprisonment under forced labor is the maximum penalty [illegible].

Mihalache said Acheson's advice was contained in a reply which, he added, must have been made to a specific question put to Burton Berry, then United States political representative in Bucharest, by Maniu.

Earlier, Nicolai Benescu, secretary general of the National Peasant party, told the Tribunal he was present at an interview between Maniu and Berry and that Maniu asked the American whether he should begin violent action.

Benescu said he also was present last April when Maniu read Acheson's note.

Another witness testified tha two officers of the American Military Mission in Romania were close contact with members of a underground movement aiming the violent overthrow of the Government, and threatened one the conspirators with death if [illegible]

First Angus Sale Hits $289 Average

CALGARY: Total of $12,125 was realized for 42 head of females—an average of $289—when the Alberta Aberdeen Angus Breeders association staged a sale of young registered breeding stock here Tuesday. J. P. Sackville, secretary of the dominion association, attended.

Top price of $900 was realized for one consigned by William Gibb, the veteran Killam breeder. Sam Henderson of Lacombe was the successful bidder.

Next high mark was $660 for a heifer of University of Alberta breeding, sold to B. Chiswell of Lacombe. The University entered three head which averaged $432. Dr. J. W. Howe, professor of animal science, attended.

Several American buyers attended from Idaho, Nebraska, Washington and North Dakota. Jim Noble of the Hartley Stock Farm, Page, N. D., was one of the U. S. buyers.

The association of which H. E. Wilson, Lacombe is secretary, met and decided to make the sale of females an annual event.

Election Campaign Shows More Activity

Tempo of the 1947 civic election campaign was at a slightly higher pitch than on the opening night when the 26 competing candidates invaded the south side district for two meetings Thursday night.

SOME HECKLING enlivened proceedings in a city-sponsored meeting in the Strathcona Assembly Hall where Independent mayoralty and school board candidate F. J. Speed charged Chairman [illegible] with favor[illegible] in [illegible] time allotments to speakers. An amusing [illegible] of the meeting was [illegible] hanging from the ceiling for Hallowe'en [illegible].

Just 23 turned out to the meeting in addition to the candidates and chairman.

There were 31 at a meeting in the basement of Strathcona Baptist Church, under the auspices of the South Edmonton Businessmen's Association, with Frank Cowles, president of the association in the chair.

Only a few questions were asked candidates and Mrs. Julia Kiniski, Independent candidate for the aldermanic board good-humoredly bore the brunt of the questioning all on the subject of how children should be treated by their elders.

MAYOR HARRY Ainlay confined his address chiefly to pointing out the obstacles in the way of making faster progress on the civic improvement program and of equipment shortages that have been holding back installation of more telephones. He suggested that one of the best ways to observe Armistice Day, that follows soon after the election would be to exercise the precious privilege of democracy by casting a vote on polling day.

MR. SPEED asserted that all civic administrations in recent years had adopted programs he advocated years ago and predicted that labor would soon supplant money as the basis of value.

Following is in part a summary of addresses made by the candidates:

MAYOR HARRY AINLAY, CDA, mayoralty, felt it is important that there is a choice of candidates "no matter who nominated them." He asked careful consideration of the voters for the CDA slate.

Edmonton is growing rapidly in population, housing and industrial development, he declared. This rapid and enormous growth has, however, led to great administrative problems. In addition the growth, is occurring at a time of great shortages in materials and equipment as well as skilled labor.

As a result the city has not been able to complete half of its paving projects in the past two years. He co[illegible] if any improve[illegible] difficulties of securing [illegible] equipment to care for the [illegible] phone system expansion have [illegible] been encountered. Some 500 [illegible] lines will be available in a few weeks and this will relieve the situation on the South Side.

The water storage and purifying plants have doubled in capacity and will be in operation before the end of the year. The addition to the power plant is being proceeded with for a new 3,000 KW generator and the city will have the money to pay for this when the work is completed.

Several sites for industry are being developed on the South Side and a large new industrial district will likely soon be opened on 50 acres between the two railways, which the rail companies have agreed to service with spur trackage. This will mean big pay rolls on the South Side, he predicted.

The mayor declared that when the present transition is completed the Edmonton transportation system will be the "best on the North American continent."

F. J. SPEED, Independent mayoralty and school board declared "everything this city has done in the last 30 years belongs to me." He wanted to know when "in the name of common sense this city is going to get public lavatories," and added there is no need for a public auditorium. The Macdonald hotel would do for an auditorium, he thought.

The basis of value is being changed and the city must have men in office who understand this in his opinion.

"The time is coming — it is just about here — when people will throw money in the streets. Labor will become the basis of value."

ALD. H. E. TANNER, Citizen's Committee, said he was supporting the proposal for a new civic auditorium because the city is growing rapidly and people must have proper accommodation for great artists when they visit here.

He thought the plan should be approved by the citizens now but would oppose construction of the building until the serious housing problem has been solved.

DR. C. B. WILLIS, CDA aldermanic favors a substantial new low level bridge and not an eyesore that he contended would result in the proposed plan for another bridge parallel to the old structure. He advocated the abolition of property qualification for civic offices. It was time that persons and not property do the voting, he declared.

MRS. ELIZABETH [illegible] CDA, school board, said [illegible]

ALD. J. M. DOUGLAS, [illegible] Committee, aldermanic, said he had lived in Edmonton [illegible] years and always taken a keen interest in civic affairs and in the [illegible] of the South Side in particular. He didn't believe the city council had been asleep at the [illegible]. There is a [illegible] that is being [illegible] Edmonton has had more [illegible] constructed [illegible] than any other city of [illegible] in the Dominion he [illegible].

W. G. MORROW, Citizen's Committee, school board, said he had been nominated as a [illegible] candidate at a [illegible]. Born in Edmonton he thought that because he is young he had a better understanding of what [illegible] children need than would otherwise be the case. He [illegible] if elected to maintain a high standard of [illegible] and good salaries for teachers. [illegible] would [illegible] the speaker [illegible].

P. J. GWYNNE [illegible] Alliance, aldermanic, said that he will not support the proposal for new civic auditorium. [illegible] With the [illegible] America and with the [illegible] construction of a [illegible] in Edmonton [illegible] be built to a[illegible].

ALD. C. E. GARIEPY, KC, Citizen's Committee aldermanic, [illegible] that the city is in need of [illegible] pavement and [illegible] and these should come before the construction of a civic centre. He asked that each [illegible] on its own feet and [illegible].

F. ARMOUR FORD, KC, Citizen's Committee, [illegible] stated that he [illegible] a school trustee and added that [illegible] seven [illegible].

"I consider it an honor and a privilege to serve on the [illegible]."

ALD. J. B. GILLIES, [illegible] Democratic Alliance, aldermanic, [illegible] he had made to [illegible] the authorization of [illegible] tram tickets and for the [illegible] tion of a system of weekly and monthly passes. He stated that cost of weekly passes would be $1.25 and $5 for monthly passes. He said that everybody benefits from the street transportation. It is necessary to subsidize the [illegible] system from other [illegible], he explained.

GEORGE E. GLEAVE, Citizen's Committee, aldermanic, referred to the remarkable progress of Edmonton since he arrived here in 1908. The new council he said will be faced with many problems such as the proposed civic auditorium, the question of pavement and other civic improvements.

N. P. FINNEMORE, Civic Democratic Alliance aldermanic, remarked that there "is a lot of scum at the annual Edmonton Exhibition." He urged that some side shows and gambling establishments be eliminated for the sake of the younger people of Edmonton. If he is elected, he said, he will do all he can to "skim the scum from the Exhibition."

MRS. RETA G. M. ROWAN, CDA, public school board, said that elected representatives are obligated to the people that elect them and should act as servants of the people. "I will pledge full support of the platform" she said.

MRS. AMY SPEED, Independent, aldermanic, wife of F. J. Speed, told the meeting of her varied experience in welfare and social work in London, England and Vancouver and that she had served with the Parent-Teachers association in Victoria.

MRS. M. E. BUTTERWORTH Citizen's Committee, public school board, stated that she is a veteran of [illegible] years standing with the school board and told of work accomplished by the board and considerable work yet to be completed.

ART HAMELIN, Independent aldermanic, said that after serving Edmonton for 15½ years on the police force, he can claim to know as much about this city as any other Edmontonian. "With this knowledge, I sincerely believe I'd be able to do a real job on the council. For the past three years I've been in business on my own. I like to think that [illegible] is due to good management, the same type of forward [illegible] management we need in Council. If I am elected, you'll have an independent voice to speak for you at council."

WILLIAM CHMILIAR, Civic Democratic Alliance, school board, stated he was in favor of a continuous building program [illegible] schools [illegible] equal to the demands of the [illegible]. He [illegible] favor of [illegible] and supplies for [illegible] up to and including Grade 12. By [illegible] standards of education [illegible] he [illegible].

STEWART GRAHAM, Citizen's Committee, [illegible]

MRS. JULIA KINISKI, Independent, aldermanic, [illegible] three [illegible] children, [illegible] declared [illegible] a change in the [illegible] the board [illegible]

Offer Reward To Find Slayer

VANCOUVER, Oct. 31—(CP)—A $1,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the killer of seven-year-old [illegible] Moore of Vancouver was authorized by the Vancouver [illegible]. Acting Mayor [illegible] announced last night.

[illegible] Sergeant Fred Fish, in charge of the investigation of the Oct. 17 slaying said he was confident that the offer would lead to the disclosure of information which might "crack" the case.

Prairie Supply Adequate

Eastern Canada Faces Shortages of Power

By The Canadian Press

Sharply increased demands and lack of water has brought about a shortage of electric power in the Maritimes, while voluntary conservation measures are being used to meet a possible shortage in parts of Ontario.

A CANADIAN PRESS survey today showed that Quebec and the western provinces however are generally getting adequate supply. Over a long-term period many important power developments are planned to overcome the threat of shortages in various areas east and west.

While Nova Scotia reports the situation "not good" the most critical shortage has arisen in Carleton and Victoria counties of New Brunswick, where power rationing went into effect this week.

Direct cause of the shortage was the prolonged drought which has brought the St. John river to its lowest level in 43 years.

In Ontario, some industries in the Niagara Falls area and pulp and paper plants in the Thunder Bay region have had their power supplies restricted while a general call for voluntary conservation has been made. A vast increase in the industrial demand is the main factor in the scattered shortages. Officials at London said that if voluntary conservation proves ineffective it is possible that the Ontario commission will order a black-out of electric signs and store window lights, as in wartime.

THE ONTARIO Hydro-Electric Commission is well under way on a $250,000,000 expansion program which involves seven new generating plants. Including Aqua Sabon on the North shore of Lake Superior, $10,000,000 and 55,000 horsepower; and Ear Falls in northwestern Ontario where the present plant will be boosted by 7,500 horsepower.

There's no shortage in Quebec, and if there was the power companies could turn to secondary sources. Quebec's hydro is engaged in a large expansion program.

In Manitoba, the Winnipeg Electric Company is enlarging its plant at Seven Sisters, 70 miles northeast of the city, to produce an additional 50,000 horsepower at a cost of about $7,000,000. This will bring the Seven Sisters output to 225,000 horsepower, largest in the west. Another 96,000 horsepower is being added to Winnipeg Hydro Commission's Slave Falls plant.

SASKATCHEWAN Power Commission reports that although there may be sporadic shortages at isolated points Saskatchewan has no shortage as a whole. There is not much margin in power supply at Moose Jaw however and new construction is planned.

In Alberta, although the power load has exceeded all estimates, there are no indications of any need to curtail power supplies this winter. Expansion programs are also under way in this province.

In British Columbia an unprecedented demand led to curtailment of supply only in the northern part of Vancouver Island and this will be remedied when the area is connected with the new plant at Elk River falls, providing a maximum of 150,000 horsepower.

Lumber firms in the Nanaimo-Duncan area had to stagger their operations into the night hours to make the power last but elswhere the service is adequate and British Columbia Electric has a $50,000 long-term expansion program under way.

Must Overcome Dollar Shortage

MONTREAL, Oct. 31—(CP)—Finance Minister Abbott said last night that "something must be done and something will be done to overcome" difficulties arising out of Canada's shortage of American dollars, but the immediate objective was to increase exports to the United States.

In a speech prepared for delivery before the Canadian Exporters Association, Mr. Abbott said:

"Our immediate objectives as exporters can, I think, be clearly stated.

"1. We must seek to narrow the gap in our trading accounts with Dollar countries by exporting more goods to those countries.

"2. We must seek to diversify our exports to the Dollar countries by combining a greater proportion of processed and manufactured goods. In more concrete terms, because the United States has been and will remain a market for our goods which exceeds all others, these ojectives can be restated more positively: 'Sell more goods, including processed and manufactured goods, in the USA markets.'"

The task of increasing exports was not easy. There were obstacles in the way, mainly in the terms of the tariff structure of the countries to which Canada exported.

"Ways and means must be found to overcome these difficulties," said Mr. Abbott. The present Canadian dollar problem is as much a danger to the stability of the U.S. economy as it is to ours. It is in the interest of both countries that measures to facilitate the further development of exports including manufactured goods be adopted, particularly where the raw material essential for such production is indigenous to our country and can be processed here to the mutual advantage of all concerned.

"I assure you no effort will be spared on the part of the Government to work out mutually-advantageous accords to encourage and facilitate this type of development which must come."

Early Publisher Dies in Toronto

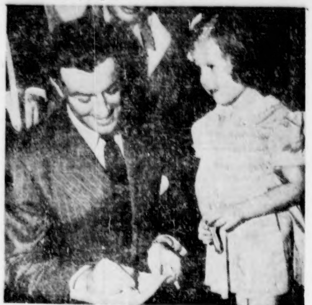
Hunts Autographs at Red Probe



Screen star Robert Taylor pauses to sign an autograph for 3-year-old Patti Porgiasz, Chicago, after testifying before Touse un-American Activities committee meeting in Washington. Taylor, who told the committee there was much evidence of red activity in Hollywood, drew the largest crowd yet to attend a hearing of the investigation into alleged Communism in the film capital.

Seek to Oust Union Officials

VANCOUVER, Oct. 31.—(CP)—Believed to be the first action of its kind in Canadian Labor history, international officers of the Hotel and Restaurant Employes Union (AFL) yesterday sought to purge the local office of alleged Communists.

They attempted to take over the Union headquarters office here from Emily Watts, president, one of three officers ordered removed from their posts by Hugo Ernest, of Cincinnati, international president, for alleged Communist activity.

A fist fight, halted by police, ended the first move by Archie Johnstone of Toronto, Canadian representative, and James Morrison, of Vancouver, assistant trustee.

A battle royal was in progress when police arrived with Johnston the centre of a scuffle in which 15 Union members joined.

When order was restored, Johnston and Morrison left the office in possession of Miss Watts, and her aides, May Ansell, business agent, and Roy Moore, assistant business agent.

Johnston said he would seek a court order of possession, but there were new locks on the office door last night and the militant Miss Watts held the keys.

"Anytime anyone thinks they're going to take this office away from the membership, they've got a fight," she said.

"The membership and executive of local 28 were amazed at the dictatorial and undemocratic action of Johnstone. The executive of local 28 has instructed its officers to carry on with the affairs of the Local."

The International Headquarters had ordered the three top officers here removed from office for allegedly being Communists.

"I am satisfied that some of the officers are Communists," said Johnstone. "We are not satisfied that the union has been functioning in the best interest of the membership . . ."

Second Chance For Josephine The Falcon

MONTREAL, Oct. 31—Josephine, the Merlin falcon which made a forced landing on the deck of the Canadian Pacific cargo passenger liner Beaverburn during the ship's last westbound crossing, is going to get another chance to complete her migratory flight from England to Africa.

When the Beaverburn sails for Liverpool today, the Falcon will be aboard. She will be released near the other side to continue the flight interrupted more than two weeks ago when high winds blew her far out to sea and she landed on the Beaverburn in an exhausted state.

Chief Officer W. Poole, like many sailors an amateur ornithologist, has cared for the bird since it landed on the ship and wants to release it on the other side as birds of this species are unknown in North America.

Leftward Trend

Conservatives Fight For Municipal Seats

By John Bonham

LONDON, Oct. 31.—(Reuters)—The Conservative party is making a strong bid to reverse the leftward trend in the annual polls for city councils of Britain's municipalities.

POLLING TAKES place Saturday in 300 English and Welsh boroughs, London excepted. Elections in the 200 Scottish municipalities will take place next Tuesday.

Conservatives in a large number of cities have adopted the recommendation of the recent Conservative party conference at Brighton, Sussex, that they should present themselves to the electors under their national party title as Conservatives.

This decision was a defeat for those who argued that national politics should be eliminated from local affairs and whose application of that argument over many decades has led to Conservatives standing under a variety of party labels such as "Progressives," "Municipal Reformers," "Ratepayers' Association," "Anti-Waste," "Independents" and so on.

An official at Conservative party headquarters said:

Practically every election will be fought by Conservative candidates. Both candidates and voters are becoming more politically conscious and recognizing the political importance of municipal elections."

BECAUSE OF THE peculiar electoral system operating in provincial cities, the Conservatives will have to fight hard if they are to make any impression on the leftward trend of recent years.

One-third of the municipal councillors retire each year. The elections of 1945 and 1946 replaced two-thirds of the membership of each council. The last third, whose seats are being contested this year, constitutes the final remnant of the councils elected before the war.

The past-war "swing to the left" therefore operated first in 1945 on those boroughs which had a bare Conservative majority. Last year, several more which had previously had Conservative majorities, were converted to Labor, although Labor itself lost some. This year the remainder of the "swing" has its last chance to reveal itself.

IN LAST YEAR'S polls the Labor party had a net gain of 159 council seats in England and Wales. The Conservatives net gain was only four seats.

Labor gains were mainly at the expense of "Independent" candidates, who, in national politics, are in most cases indistinguishable from Conservatives.

Last year, 217 Communist candidates ran but only one was elected.

Take Advantage Of Restrictions

By CLYDE BLACKBURN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—(CP)—Representative John McDowell (Rep.-Pa.) of the House committee on un-American activities told the Canadian Press yesterday that it might be a week or two before the committee gets around to investigating possible entry into the United States of subversive persons crossing the border from Canada on visitors permits.

"We know there have been a great many Communists, mostly Canadian Communists, and of former Nazis and Fascists, taking advantage of the comparatively simple border restrictions placed upon bona-fide Canadian residents," he said.

Yesterday McDowell said the "bus loads" he referred to were delegates to the recent convention in Pittsburgh of the "Croatian Fraternal Union." There were more than 100 delegates from Canada he said, "and many of them were Communists or fellow travellers."

There was a great effort afoot among the Slav groups to organize in the United States behind the Communist party and he believed workers were getting into the country by way of Canada.

CANADIAN BULWARKS OF DEMOCRACY

FREEDOM OF THE PRESS

An unfettered press is one of the bulwarks of our democracy. From it, through it, the citizen of this democracy sees in print the news he needs to judge the issues of the day . . . to determine the acts and fitness of those he elected to govern. It is our mental food and drink. Fettered, blindfolded or gagged, a free press, as we know it, would be impossible.

"Then, hail to the press! Chosen guardian of freedom! Strong sword-arm of justice! Bright sunbeam of truth!" . . . Horace Greeley.

Dictatorship cannot abide a free press . . . the Hitlers, Mussolinis, the Tojos, founded their regimes on "thought" control. With control of the press they could, and did, do as they pleased. What they pleased to do, we all recall. Man, since freedom was first dreamed of, has fought for the right to speak his mind. It was a right won the hard way . . . a right that is in our keeping . . . one to guard, safekeep and cherish . . . as jealously and zealously as any of our hard-won freedoms.

Theoretical freedom is not enough. Let us look well to this precious heritage of ours; ever serve, alert, persistent, consistent as watch dogs, day in, day out, to determine that no pressure, governmental or private, is permitted to dissuade, suppress, throttle, color, or slant the news in our press . . . For, just so long as we guard our press from pressure, so long, and no longer, shall we merit the blessings our ancestors bought so dearly . . . a true bulwark of democracy . . .

FREEDOM OF THE PRESS

SCRAP IRON PRICE

NEW YORK, (AP)—The booming United States scrap market has been slowed up, temporarily at least, by reluctance of large consumers to pay current prices, the Iron Age, metalworking weekly, said.

Whether the wholesale exodus of consumers from markets will be able to depress scrap prices remains to be seen, the magazine said. The Iron Age scrap price composite this week is up 75 cents to a record high of $42.58 a gross ton.

DIVIDEND TOTALS

MONTREAL, (CP)—Dollar value of dividends paid on listed and unlisted stocks on the Montreal stock exchange and curb market totalled $23,043,618 for October, 1947, compared with $23,270,605 in the corresponding month last year, it was announced by the exchange.

Yugoslavia will not nationalize its mines or take any steps prejudicial to foreigners' property there, the government announced.

Breeder Of Wheat Feted In Dakota

By H. G. L. Strange

"A modest little man stood misty-eyed before a group of his former neighbors and friends and heard them acclaim him as 'the man who gave bread to a hungry world'."

So reports the "Minneapolis Morning Tribune" on one of the most interesting historical farm meetings ever to take place.

The occasion was the McFadden Appreciation Day held on Oct. 18 at Webster, South Dakota. A day of appreciation to Edgar S. McFadden, the man who made the first successful cross in 1916 between Emmer, which is rust-resistant, and the Canadian Marquis, to produce a rust-resistant wheat.

Every bushel of rust-resistant wheat produced since that date has been made possible because of the cross made by this then college student at Brookings, South Dakota, in 1916.

What the world owes to this man! And what the world owes similarly to American and Canadian plant breeders and agricultural scientists who, building on McFadden's first achievement, made hundreds of millions of bushels more wheat available to the United Nations during the war, and are making untold more millions of bushels available to a hungry world which otherwise would be suffering much more severely than it is from lack of bread.

There are other great men in the world of agriculture in Canada and the United States who, because of their notable achievements, deserve similar praise and similar official and public recognition.

IRON ORE TONNAGE

CLEVELAND, (AP) — The Great Lakes shipping fleet carried a total of 70,171,527 net tons of iron ore from upper lake shipping ports during the 1947 season up to Monday, compared with 51,034,635 tons for the corresponding period last year, the Lake Superior iron ore association reported.

India's food reserves, according to a recent government report, are completely exhausted and large importations are required until the harvest of the present crop.
